

Queen Security Captive?

By RICHARD JACKSON

Colonist Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Are Quebec terrorists making a Sunday morning prisoner of the Queen aboard the royal yacht Britannia?

Those in charge of the royal visit say no, and definitely. They insisted Friday that the Queen and Prince Philip will attend Anglican services at Quebec City on Sunday, Oct. 11, not in church, but aboard the Britannia. "has nothing, absolutely nothing to do with security."

That the Queen, being afforded the most immense security safeguards ever provided in Canada—both in sheer manpower and multiplicity of measures—will be attending divine services in the middle of the St. Lawrence River, well out from the Quebec City shoreline, is nothing more, they say, than "sheer coincidence."

But... This form of water-borne service breaks dramatically with royal visit tradition. And the "coincidence" is made even more remarkable when it is recalled that the Anglican church in Quebec City she traditionally would have attended under other circumstances, the Cathedral of the Holy Trinity, is the first Church of England ever built outside the British Isles.

(The cathedral was dedicated in 1804, but the parish was established as far back as 1768.)

To conduct the service aboard the Britannia on Oct. 11, Rt. Rev. Russell F. Brown of Quebec City will go out in a boat tender from the dock to the yacht.

The royal visit committee, it was learned, for a time had considered arranging with Anglican Church authorities

Danger to Security

SPY CHARGES DROPPED

NEW YORK (AP) — The prosecution on direct, urgent orders from Washington suddenly and surprisingly dropped Friday its federal spy case against a Russian mystery couple—indicating it did not want to bare its counter-spy secrets of the cold war in open court.

The defendants had time only to exchange a congratulatory kiss before they were picked up by immigration authorities, to await deportation proceedings. The woman's eyes were filled with tears.

The development stunned a Brooklyn courtroom, where a jury of 11 men and one woman had just been completed in the fifth day of the espionage trial of Alexandre Sokolov, 41, a Russian of vague background, and his 34-year-old wife, whose real name is not even known to U.S. authorities. The indictment called her Jane Doe.

The only explanation on record for abandoning the case was "the interests of national security."

JUDGE APPROVES

Airliner Plunges 80 Lost

CARTAGENA, Spain (UPI)—A French airliner with 80 persons aboard crashed into the Mediterranean 45 miles off this port Friday. After an all-night search no survivors had been sighted and rescuers feared the plane had sunk.

Twenty ships converged on the crash scene after the wreckage was sighted late Friday by a French plane. Flares added by flares circled the scene.

The plane was a four-propeller DC-8. Radio contact with it was lost one hour after it had left Palma, Majorca, early Friday.

IN CONFIRMATION
About 12 hours after the crash, a Spanish air force rescue plane had radioed that it saw "some survivors."

Spanish rescue headquarters said, however, there was "so far no official confirmation of any survivors."

Seven crewmen and 73 passengers—all of them French except for two Mauritanians—were reported aboard the plane, operated by the French firm Union Transports Aeronautiques.

Strike Ends

Straitjackets, Irons For 'Black Hood' Men

MINEOLA, N.Y. (UPI)—Two members of Montreal's notorious "Black Hood" gang were sent back to Montreal Friday in straitjackets, leg chains and handcuffs.

Nassau County district attorney William Cahn said they were making the trip in an immigration department van because all airports were fogged in the New York City area.

Cahn said it had been planned to return the two desperadoes by chartered plane because the airlines refused to take them for fear of endangering other passengers.

The two men are Antonio Pachino, 37, and Jean Claude Messier, 26, both of Montreal.

Alberta Cancer Fund Official Accused in $100,000 Theft

CALGARY (CP) — Robert Neville Talbot, 58, charged with theft of $100,000 from the Alberta division, Canadian Cancer Society, was returned to police custody Friday night to face additional charges.

Police said $25,000 bail granted Talbot earlier was cancelled and he was in jail after being charged with four counts of uttering a forged document. Talbot, executive director of the division, showed no emotion earlier Friday when he appeared in court to hear the charges read against him. He wore a topcoat and dark glasses and was not represented by counsel.

The magistrate remanded him, before Talbot's arrest Thursday, to Oct. 9 on the charge of theft. Police said a theft, which they believed was the largest recorded in the city, occurred during a period of about nine months, dating back to Jan. 1.

They added that a theft was carried out through manipulation of cheques issued to non-existent society employees supposedly hired to perform house-keeping duties for cancer patients.

Claudia Tennant of Lethbridge, president of the Alberta division, said she and other provincial executive members were unaware of the situation

Suspended by Cabinet

Purchaser Charged

By IAN STREET

Colonist Legislative Reporter

The provincial cabinet met in emergency session late Friday to order the suspension of a senior B.C. official who was responsible for many millions of dollars in government purchases each year.

The action came about four hours after George Jones, chairman of the government's purchasing commission, appeared in magistrate's court on a charge under one of the bribery sections of the Criminal Code of Canada.

No plea was taken Friday and Mr. Jones and former automobile dealer George Hankinson were remanded on $1,000 bail each until next Tuesday.

FROM TORONTO

Mr. Jones was appointed to the $10,600 a year job of chairman of the three-man purchasing commission in 1956. At that time Premier Bennett said he had come from Toronto where he held a purchasing job for a federal government branch.

The chairman of the purchasing commission is one of only two provincial officials who are not responsible to the cabinet but to the legislative assembly.

As such he is permitted to hold office during good behavior and can only be removed by address from the legislative assembly.

JUST RETURNED

Premier Bennett returned from Europe only a few hours before the official was arrested by RCMP in the purchasing commission's office on Superior Street Friday morning.

Yukon and Northwest Territories west of the 120 meridian would be "full-fledged partners" if they decided to join B.C., Premier Bennett said Friday.

He told a press conference on his return from Europe that his "suggestion" that the northern territories join B.C. was part of the government's long-range development plan for the north.

And the premier predicted that if the promised $302,000,000 program for paving the Alaska Highway and other key northern routes was carried out B.C. tourist business would show dramatic growth.

Mr. Bennett said in a few years the increase in travel by Americans to Alaska, both going and returning by way of B.C. would boost the annual

Separatists May Hinder Cavalcade

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec separatists plan to use passive tactics in demonstrations during the Queen's visit next Friday. Pierre Bourque, president of Le Rassemblement pour l'Indépendance Nationale said the movement has picked up tips on such tactics from persons linked to the Congress of Racial Equality in the U.S.

He condemned, in an interview Friday an article in the underground separatist organ Le Cognee (The Hatchet) outlining methods of starting a riot. Would RIN members go to the point of throwing themselves down before the royal cavalcade?

"That could be the type of demonstration," he replied,

Refugees Choke Roads

Hilda Heads for Coast, 125,000 Flee for Lives

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Hurricane Hilda drove its terrifying 130 mile-an-hour winds late Friday toward a Louisiana Gulf Coast from which more than 125,000 persons had fled.

The massive storm churned northward through a raging

Gulf of Mexico at a sluggish six m.p.h. It appeared to be shifting east just enough to cause concern to sprawling, below-sea-level New Orleans.

Refugees from Hilda's expected fury choked roads leading north. Many carried their pets along, leaving a string of abandoned, ghost cities in Louisiana's Cajun country.

MASS EVACUATION

Frank G. Splens, acting state civil defence director, estimated 125,000 persons had left the low-lying coastal areas with the count not yet complete. It was probably the largest mass evacuation in the history of Louisiana.

As Hilda ploughed north, uncertain of its exact land target, more than 1,000,000 South Louisianians kept a constant watch on its progress.

LARGER THAN MARITIMES

The giant storm with its buffeting gales and winds covers 70,000 square miles—nearly 20,000 square miles larger than the combined area of Canada's Maritime provinces.

The job of feeding and caring for the mounting swell of refugees quickly became a formidable one. The U.S. Red Cross sent in 10,000 cots and 20,000 blankets to the Lake Charles and Lafayette areas.

Lakes Shipping Limited of Toronto.

The newspaper said the marshal boarded a cruiser owned by the Sealers' International Union (Ind.) in Mill Basin, Brooklyn, and obtained Banks' signature on a receipt for the subpoena.

In Ottawa, an opposition demand in the House of Commons for a special inquiry into the circumstances surrounding Banks' bail-jumping flight to the United States was flatly rejected Friday by Prime Minister Pearson.

"No such inquiry is necessary," he told the Commons. "I think the facts are quite clear and I do not think any useful purpose would be served at this time by establishing that kind of inquiry."

Slide Takes Fourth Life

VANCOUVER (CP)—The massive mudslide which wiped out the Catermole Co.'s timber camp—village 30 miles north of Campbell River Sept. 17 claimed a fourth life Friday.

William Cousins, 54, who was buried for some time in mud and debris, died in hospital here. The bodies of three other victims have never been found.

Hurled Egg Hits Home On Back

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE, England (Reuters)—Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home was hit by an egg Friday.

Douglas-Home was hit in the back as he was climbing into his car. The egg splattered over his blue suit.

Police chased a bespectacled youth.

The prime minister did not at first realize he had been hit by an egg.

"He thought someone had given him a rather heavy pat on the back," said Lord Oakeshot.

Suicide Leaps, Kills Tourist

PARIS (UPI) — A woman who committed suicide by leaping from the 230-foot tower of Notre Dame Cathedral struck and killed an American woman tourist Friday a few feet from a French lottery poster proclaiming: "Today Is Your Lucky Day."

The tourist was Miss Veronica McConnell, 24, a pretty dark-haired X-ray technician of Philadelphia. She had arrived Thursday night with 38 young American tourists on a bus tour of Europe.

The suicide carried no identification, but police said her father identified her as Miss Denise Rey-Herme, 37, of Saint Prix, near Paris.

She was only the 12th known suicide from the tower in Notre Dame's 800-year-old history. The Eiffel Tower has claimed 334 victims.

Bennett Says Northland Full Partner in Union

Kiernan Will Act As Ambassador

Recreation Minister Kiernan will act as B.C.'s ambassador in preliminary discussions on the question of union with the Yukon.

Premier Bennett said yesterday he hoped the minister, who has previously held portfolios of mines and agriculture, would agree to explain the benefits to both B.C. and the northern territories.

The invitation to send a B.C. representative to discuss the proposal made by Premier Bennett on his visit to Whitehorse last month came from the Chamber of Commerce in the Yukon's administrative centre.

Names Kept Secret

Indictments Out In Civil Rights Case

MILOXI, Miss. (UPI)—A federal grand jury investigating the slaying of three civil rights workers this summer returned two indictments Friday, but refused any information until arrests are made.

The grand jury foreman, Jackson insurance executive Dallas Cowan, told U.S. District Judge Sidney Mike that "we have completed our assignment and have two bills to return."

Mike told the jurors, including

22 whites and one Negro, "not to give out any information about this case until the defendants are placed under arrest. I think it would be wise to keep it secret now."

The men disappeared June 21, shortly after being released from the Neshoba county jail at Philadelphia, Miss. On Aug. 4, obviously acting on a tip, FBI agents using a bulldozer uncovered their bodies deep in an earthen dam near Philadelphia.

All three had been shot, at Quebec City for services at the cathedral.

And as to why early plans were quietly dropped, there has been no explanation, other than a rather aggressive insistence that it had "no relation whatsoever" with security against terrorism.

But things were quite different with royal tour plans as recently as five years ago.

The 1959 royal tour itinerary shows that the Queen, also aboard the Britannia off Quebec, was escorted to Anglean services on land, and the committee in charge of arrangements had to go to quite some effort to make it possible.

Her Majesty and Prince Philip were disembarked from the Britannia off Gaspé, taken aboard a barge, and then driven by car to St. Paul's Anglican Church, where Prince Philip read the lesson.

The Queen attended divine services at several other points on the 1959 tour, and did so by leaving the Britannia at the Lake Ontario harbors of Kingston and Port Hope, where services were conveniently held on the yacht. The contrast between Sunday in Quebec City in 1964 and the Queen's Quebec City visit in 1959 is startling.

This time she has no public appearances.

Five years ago she appeared many, many times, in all parts of the city, meeting everybody from civic leaders to school children.

Those who meet her this time will do so by invitation—and within the thick security-sealed walls of the Quebec City Citadel.

number of visitors to 10 times the population of the province.

"There would be tremendous returns," the premier said. "But the citizens of the Yukon and Northwest Territories would reap the same benefits as any other residents of the province."

Mr. Bennett recalled that 10 years or more have passed since he and Premier Manning went on record as favoring the extension northwards of Alberta and B.C. boundaries.

NOW IN POSITION

At that time, however, B.C. was in no position to press the matter, the premier said, because there were so many things to do in this province.

"Now we are in a position, with the Yellowhead Pass route and the Northern Trans-Canada Highways under way, to look further north," he said.

Mr. Bennett indicated that B.C. would be willing to push a new highway through to the Mackenzie River basin in the Northwest Territories. This would be in addition to the already promised highway system serving Alaska and the Yukon.

"PURCHASE OFFER"

The premier took issue with a news story with an Ottawa dateline which earlier this week charged that B.C.'s $302,000,000 northern highway program amounted to nothing less than an offer to purchase the mineral-rich northern territories at a price of a few cents an acre.

"All we ask is that a plebiscite be held," said Mr. Bennett. "The citizens of the northern territories must agree to union of their own free will and accord. We are not trying to push anything down their throats."

During his European trip, the premier said, he found tremendous interest among industrialists in Britain and on the continent in the continuing growth of B.C.'s economy.

TIME FOR UNION

With tens of millions of dollars in foreign capital being invested in the province, he said, the time for union was now.

"Yukoners look upon themselves as being outside," said Mr. Bennett. "As part of B.C. they would be on the inside—part of our whole vibrant expanding economy."

The premier hit out at inaction on the part of Ottawa in developing the northern territories and said federal authorities should "stop talking about northern vision and get down to some northern action."

Orthodox Bishops Oppose Absolution

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Orthodox Catholic bishops of the historic Antioch See Friday were reported planning to counter the Vatican Ecumenical Council's trend toward absolving the Jews of guilt in Christ's crucifixion.

The government newspaper Al Thawra said the bishops were convinced the "Vatican cannot act alone on such a matter involving entire Christianity."

Purchaser Charged

Mr. Bennett told a press conference called for 2:30 p.m. yesterday to discuss his trip that he would make no comment since the case was before the courts.

He did promise, however, that a statement would be issued following a cabinet meeting later in the afternoon.

RELIEVED OF DUTIES

The cabinet met briefly and the order-in-council suspending Mr. Jones was taken immediately to Government House for signature.

It recommended that George Ernest Pascoe Jones be relieved of all further duties in connection with the purchasing commission "until further order."

Both Jones, 500 Belleville, and dealer Hankinson, 2310 Heron, reserved plea in city magistrate's court after one of two charges against each was read.

CAR PURCHASES

Charges involve two separate car purchases alleged to have been made by Mr. Jones from the defunct Pacific Chrysler Dodge (1964) Ltd., 1061 Yates, formerly known as Pacific Chrysler Products Ltd.

Lloyd G. McKenzie has been appointed special prosecutor in the case following the double arrest by RCMP.

Hankinson was represented by John C. Cowan and Robert B. Hutchison while T. P. O'Grady appeared for Jones.

FORGIVEN PAYMENT

The charges read Friday alleged Jones permitted Hankinson in October, 1963, to forgive him payment of $1,577 described as part of the price of a Dodge sedan.

Hankinson is charged with "confering a benefit upon" Jones by forgiving him the $1,577 in payments.

They are also charged in connection with a February 1964 purchase of a Dodge convertible.

BELOW COST

The second charge alleges Jones allowed Hankinson to sell him the car at "a sum less than the cost" of the vehicle.

The charges are laid under a section of the Criminal Code of Canada last used in the Somers-Sturdy case in which the then minister of lands and forests was convicted of irregular dealings in forest management licences.

OTTAWA (CP)—The men who man Canada's post offices plan to stage a work-to-rule program next summer if anticipated pay increases prove no better than those granted other civil servants this year.

The 10,500-member Canadian Postal Employees Association, whose membership includes more than 90 per cent of the inside men in the post office department, made the announcement.

earlier had referred to the only two overt acts alleged in the indictment that connected the defendants with an international Soviet espionage ring. These were meetings that took place in New York and Washington on June 15-16, 1963.

The couple were accused of a six-year plot to ferret out secret data on U.S. rocket launching sites and atomic arms shipments.

They were arrested July 1, 1963, in an apartment the government said was equipped with powerful short-wave radio, codes and ciphers, and recording and photographic gear.

On the same day, U.S. agents picked up a Russian U.N. personnel officer, Ivan D. Egorov, 42, and his wife, Aleksandra, 40, in New York. The Egorovs subsequently were swapped for two Americans held by the Soviet Union. However, Washington sources said the Sokolovs were not involved in any such swap.

Biting Tongue Big Danger During Epileptic Seizure

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: I have come in contact with several people who are epileptic. Is this a mental illness? What should one do when an epileptic has a seizure?—J.K.

No, epilepsy is not a mental illness. It is a disorder in which the muscles go into convulsion. The treatment is the use of anti-convulsant drugs which prevent the muscles from going into sudden spasm.

Seizures are usually brief. In some types of epilepsy, they may last only a second or less, and nothing need be done. The patient, in such cases, may merely pause in the middle of a word, then continue, as though nothing had happened, when the convulsion passes.

In the more severe attacks, in which the patient falls to the ground, all you should (or can) do is to keep him from harming himself. See that he does not strike his head against some object.

Put a cushion or perhaps a folded coat or sweater under his head. Try to keep him from biting his tongue. A small piece of wood, a wooden pencil or the like, slipped between his teeth, will accomplish this. You teeth also use a spoon, corner of a wallet or any similar object. Loosen the collar; the straining muscles may make breathing difficult.

He will come out of the seizure automatically as the muscles relax, but he will be tired and shaky from his ordeal.

Then be helpful and understanding. There is no reason to be afraid of him, as some people are when they see a seizure. For the sake of his feelings, if people gather round and begin jabbering and asking foolish questions, gently shoo them about their business. Just be calm and say, "He's had a seizure, that's all. He'll be all right in a few minutes."

Dear Dr. Molner: How do stomach ulcers form?—M.M.

Nobody knows exactly. They can occur in childhood. They are more frequent in tense, hard-driving individuals.

Think of it this way: An ulcer is a sore. Some people have more tendency than others to acquire them. If irritation can be prevented, such a sore tends to heal.

Spices and other such foods must be avoided. So must excessive flow of digestive juices, as well as excessive movement of the stomach muscles. Keeping the patient from becoming too tense and nervous, if possible, helps in this regard. Smoking is usually restricted.

Dear Dr. Molner: My son, 8, has a birthmark, a third apple. It does not grow but other children laugh at it and it has caused much heartache.—D.E.

This is an accident of nature which occurs sometimes. My advice would be to leave it alone and forget it—but explain to the little boy that it's just that, a mistake by nature, and not to let it or the remarks of other youngsters bother him. This is not an unusual occurrence.

Queen Appears Well Rested, Ready for Trip

From CP, Reuters, UPI

LONDON—Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip, who leave Monday for a one-week visit to Canada, returned to London Friday at the end of their annual vacation at Balmoral Castle in Scotland. The Queen looked rested and travelled by overnight train with their two youngest children, Prince Andrew, 4, and seven-month-old Prince Edward.

MOSCOW—Soviet officials declined to comment on the announcement today by Britain and the United States they have drawn up a draft treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

TOKYO—Foreign Minister Kusunoburo Shina said Friday some progress was made in the North Pacific fisheries talks between Japan, United States and Canada although negotiations were temporarily called off Thursday. Shina told a cabinet meeting that Japan hopes that more progress will be made when the session is resumed.

VATICAN CITY—Proposals for Roman Catholic and Protestant scholars to work together on joint translations of the Bible came before the Vatican ecumenical council Friday.

Hit by CPR Train Tiny Boy Survives

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A tiny boy was struck by a 61-car CPR freight train Thursday and lived, although a brakeman's frantic efforts to push the child from in front of the train had failed.

David Bonner, 2½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bonner of London, was in fair condition in hospital Thursday night, suffering from shock. A doctor described the child's escape as "simply amazing."

Engineer Fred Tremblay saw

what he thought was a dog crawling on the track. When his diesel was 300 feet away, he slammed on the emergency brakes and hollered to brakeman James Murphy of Lúcan, Ont.: "God! That's a baby."

Murphy scrambled along the diesel catwalk and, leaning out over the track, tried to scoop David to safety.

"I grabbed for him but I missed by about four inches," Murphy said. The footboard of the engine knocked the child 18 or 12 feet.

New Law On Pay Studied

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's civil servants will seek a further pay increase next year.

The annual convention of the B.C. Government Employees' Association was told Friday that pay increases awarded this year were a step in the right direction, but still not enough.

Association general secretary Ed O'Connor told the delegates the pay boosts, ranging from $15 to $25 a month for the government's 17,400 permanent employees, were generally satisfactory.

DIFFERENTIAL

"It is to be noted, however," he said, "that wage increases in industry and other public services have once again created a substantial differential which will necessitate . . . further representations for pay increases on April 1, 1965."

Facing study too is a resolution from the Nanaimo branch asking the convention to press for payment of overtime at a standard time-and-a-half rate throughout the government service.

Another, submitted by the Victoria branch, goes a step further and says overtime should be paid at the time-and-a-half rate for the first four hours of overtime only. After that, and for overtime worked Saturdays, Sundays and statutory holidays and on normal days off, the rate should be double-time.

New Raise Goal Of Civil Servants

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister MacEachen said Friday the government is considering a legislative amendment that would force all firms working on federal contracts to comply with the proposed federal labor code, which sets a $1.25 minimum hourly wage.

The bill to create the labor code was introduced in the Commons Thursday by Mr. MacEachen. It would cover only 556,000 workers in industries under federal jurisdiction, less than nine per cent of the working force.

But the amendment now under study would extend the code's coverage to thousands of additional workers in firms getting federal contracts. There was no firm estimate of the number involved, but it could run to more than 100,000 in a year.

Mr. MacEachen said in an interview the proposal is for an amendment to the Canada Fair Wages and Hours of Work Act. In addition to the $1.25-an-

B.C. Sets Up Free Clinic To Seek Out Eye Disease

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—A free glaucoma detection clinic, first of its kind in British Columbia, is scheduled to open here Saturday.

More than 90 volunteer workers, including 10 medical eye specialists and 12 nurses, will administer the short test to determine whether a person is afflicted with the eye disease. A spokesman said the test is important to persons over 35. The disease, he said, is a leading cause of blindness among Canadian adults, striking one in 50.

Not Nonsense

IN HIS GENERAL approval of the recommendations made in the Porter Royal Commission report on banking and finance, W. Earle McLaughlin, chairman and president of the Royal Bank of Canada, has gone out of his way to suggest that the need for regional, as opposed to national banks, is not as real as some people would make it out to be.

One of the criticisms of the current Canadian banking system is that the head offices of the chartered banks are all either in Toronto or Montreal and that too many applications for loans have to go to those cities for approval.

This referring to "head office" came up frequently during the recent hearings of the Senate banking and finance committee when it was considering charter applications for regional banks.

It was an argument used by Premier Bennett in defence of the application for the government sponsored Bank of British Columbia, and also by spokesmen for the Bank of Western Canada and the Laurentide Bank.

Mr. McLaughlin now says this criticism against the existing banks is "a lot of nonsense."

He claims that 90 per cent of the total number of loans are made in the field without reference to higher authority, and that only the largest loan applications are taken to head office.

No one will dispute Mr. McLaughlin's figures, but his 90 per cent claim is one which is liable to create a misapprehension.

The vital point is that the 10 per cent of the loan applications which go to head office for consideration are all the big ones. They might at times reach to as much as 50 or 60 per cent of the dollar value of all the loans made by the banks.

The reference to head office for the big business deals is the one which has created in the minds of so many people the need for regional banks. The small loans sure enough are dealt with by the local or provincial bank officials. But they are not the ones that really matter.

Mr. McLaughlin may also be raising difficulties where they may not exist when he says no bank in Canada could operate without its head office in a main money market, and this so far as Canada is concerned at present means Toronto and Montreal.

He suggests that even if the new banks had their main offices in Vancouver and Winnipeg, their real head offices would have to be in one of the two money market centres.

None of the applicants for new banks have denied they would have to maintain investment offices in either Toronto or Montreal, and they would certainly do so, but the policy control of the bank would still be in the main offices in Vancouver or Winnipeg.

To carry the matter a stage further, if both the Bank of British Columbia and the Laurentide Bank get their operating licences, who is to say that in a short number of years Vancouver would not be as important a money market as either of the two eastern cities are at present?

As the greatest city of the Canadian west, and as the centre of Canada's rapidly growing trade with the Orient, such elevation in the Vancouver status is not merely a possibility, but a near certainty.

Mr. McLaughlin in this matter might be accused of failing to recognize trends.

A Stupid Move

THE LATEST expression of current thinking at the defence department is peculiar beyond measure. It is a decision to transfer the public relations branch of the Pacific Coast's armed services from Victoria to Vancouver.

In actual practice to separate West Coast information headquarters from the front of its information; from the operational commands it is supposed to serve. One must conclude that Ottawa is unaware Victoria is 80 sea miles away from the mainland.

The local area, the Esquimalt establishments, embraces all of the RCN's 17 ships and a personnel of some 8,000 naval and civilian personnel. Work Point is a garrison post with a regular army unit in that station. Victoria is the hub, active and administrative, of the these defensive forces of the Pacific Coast. By contrast Vancouver has no naval ships and but a few hundred armed forces personnel of any kind.

Common sense would dictate that the branch which supplies the information required about services would be located where these were activated.

Victoria's MP, Mr. David Gross, advises that Victoria won't be left entirely without a PRO; one representative will be allowed to remain to give out news about the three services. As an old navy man he is bound to be aware how inadequate this will be. He should be protesting the move with all his might.

The result can only be to the detriment of the commands here and of the information available to the public. Nor can a public relations branch function with efficiency if its headquarters is not in a position to be intimately connected with the source of its responsibilities. Direction by remote control is not conducive to success.

But possibly the new defence thinking at Ottawa doesn't want to keep the public properly advised as to the activities of the armed forces.

FAMOUS LETTERS IN CANADIAN HISTORY NO. 19

Just a Dream

The dream of an inland passage from the Atlantic to the Pacific had tantalized explorers from the days of LaSalle.

To find out whether it existed was one of the instructions given Captain George Vancouver when he was sent out in 1790 to survey the whole British Columbia coast and recover the British possessions on Nootka Sound from the Spaniards.

In this historic letter, the original of which is owned by the City of Vancouver, he tells James Sykes, his naval agent in England, that there is no northwest passage.

Captain Vancouver was one of the great geographers of his age. He had sailed with Captain Cook on his historic expeditions and wrote this letter from Cook's former vessel, the Discovery, which he was commanding.

Shortly afterwards he returned to England where he spent several years preparing the journals of his expeditions.

Vancouver Reports No Inland Passage

Discovery, Nootka Sound,
October 23rd, 1794

Dear Sir:

By the Jenny of Bristol which sails this night or tomorrow morning I take the opportunity of transmitting to you a set of 24 bills of exchange.

We arrived here this day month, all in high health and spirits, having truly determined the non existence of any water communication between this and the opposite side of America, within the limits of our investigation beyond all doubt or dispute, hence I expected no further detention on this hemisphere, not doubting but the business respecting these territories must have been settled a sufficient length of time for a vessel to have arrived by whom we might be relieved and proceed on our route towards old England in hopes to partake of some share of the glorious and honorable cause her fleets and armies are at present engaged, but in these expectations we were disappointed no vessel having arrived from England.

Thus you see my good friend I am once more entrapped in this infernal ocean and am totally at a loss to say when I shall be able to quit it.

Believe me I am with sincere wishes for the happiness of yourself, Mr. Sykes and family.

GEO. VANCOUVER.

Holding the Yukon Back

Paving the Alaska Highway

By HOWARD GREEN
Former Secretary of State for External Affairs

NOW is the time for negotiations between Canada and the United States concerning the hard-surfacing of the Alaska Highway from Fort St. John to the Alaska border.

Our own province is involved as well, for a long stretch of the highway is in British Columbia and roads lead off from the section in the Yukon to valuable resources in the province. For example the big asbestos mine in the Cassiar and the gold fields and tourist attractions at Atlin.

Significantly Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana is advocating congressional action to provide for a 50-50 sharing between the United States and Canada. He is both able and influential and holds the important position of Democratic leader in the Senate. I doubt whether he would sponsor such a measure if there was any doubt that it would be acceptable to Congress and the United States government.

In Canada Premier Bennett hit the headlines recently when he offered in Whitehorse to do the job alone if the Yukon would join British Columbia; for good measure he proposed as well to extend the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to Whitehorse where it would connect with the historic White Pass and Yukon Railway running from that city to Skagway.

I happened to visit the Yukon a day or two after the offer was made and it had certainly aroused great interest; all Yukoners consider that the lack of a modern highway is holding the territory back. This is perfectly obvious as well to a visitor.

Such an undertaking would be very expensive for British Columbia, costing several hundred million dollars. In addition many Yukoners do not wish to join us.

They fear that once summer they would be forgotten. Those who have visited nearby Atlin in British Columbia know that it does not show many signs of beneficence from the government which is now trying to take them over.

I believe the practical way to meet the need would be by a cost sharing agreement along the lines suggested by Senator Mansfield. British Columbia should pay part of the cost to Canada and probably Alaska should also be a contributor.

Much of the traffic on the highway is going to or coming from the new state and possibly the agreement could cover a gravel road from Juneau in the Alaskan Panhandle to Atlin which is now connected with the highway.

Such a road would enable Alaskans to travel to and from their capital without the necessity of taking a long ferry trip.

For British Columbia it would open splendid tourist country around Atlin Lake and give the people in the area more direct access to tidewater than they now have.

This northern country is certainly well worth further development. Already Yukon has yielded a quarter of a billion dollars in gold and many millions in silver and lead.

In the vicinity of Dawson there are still five large gold dredges working over some of the famous creeksides of 1896; in addition various smaller operators are using hydraulic or bulldozer methods to extract gold from the gravels.

Over 100 miles to the east in the Mayo area some 600 men are employed by United Keno Hill mining silver and lead; daily huge trucks carry the concentrates to rail-head at Whitehorse.

From the Cassiar in British Columbia other huge trucks are bringing asbestos to the White Pass and Yukon Railway and both kinds of shipments go on throughout the year.

North of Dawson companies are drilling for oil and in various parts of the Yukon prospects from large mining and oil companies are active. Canada probably has a vast treasure house in the area.

For tourists there is no more interesting place in Canada than Dawson and the nearby gold creeks. When one recalls that in 1896 about 40,000 persons reached Dawson—and saw the remains of dozens of shafts sunk in the creek beds and on the benches—one realizes that Canada has good reason to be proud of these young adventurers.

However, adventurous souls of later generations are carrying on the traditions and showing the same spirit. Modern machinery has helped and made it easier to live and work in these northern lands.

Across the border in Alaska the same type are to be found and co-operation between the two peoples is excellent. Flying or driving from Whitehorse to Fairbanks to attend a conference is all in the day's work.

Residents in the Yukon are ready to spearhead far-reaching developments but one essential to progress is a hard-surfaced highway into the area. Obviously the United States is interested—and so is Premier Bennett. The next move must be made by the Canadian government.

Blazing Rocket

The Golden Limit

By CASSANDRA, from London

I MENTIONED recently that rural land that had been granted a building licence 40 miles from London had been sold at over £14,000 an acre. Agricultural land that is acquired by compulsory order brings back something in the neighborhood of £250 an acre in the same area to the anguished owner.

I thought that well away from London £14,000 an acre was just about the bloody golden limit but parcels of allotments near Clapham, that four years ago changed hands at £600 an acre are now fetching £20,000 an acre or over 14 a square yard.

This blazing rocket, for such it is, conducted at the expense of millions of young couples who want to set up home, will never be stopped under the present free enterprise arrangements that are an integral part of the policy of premium-bond-bingo-and-good-luck system of speculative gain that the Conservative Party has fostered for so long.

There are, of course, checks, or so-called checks, on this bonanza.

There is the system of compulsory purchase.

When the government wants land or property for their own purposes, they slap on an order for compulsory purchase.

They do this with great skill. Sympathetic men from the ministry appear and listen most politely to all the arguments.

They say that what they have heard is most interesting and germane to the problem which concerns the individual as well as the ministry.

They welcome a new slant. They only want to help.

Please let us know more about your problem.

Then, like Madame Guillotine, they bring down the blade; and lanes, roads and gardens change hands in a bureaucratic trice. Hitherto, if you fight the Men from the Ministry and win your case before a tribunal—a somewhat rare occurrence—you had to pay your own costs.

Now, in a gesture of suspect magnanimity, if you win you get your costs.

It is a wonderful dual system. On the one hand the government condoning a gigantic land racket such as this country has never seen.

On the other hand the same government striding sternly in and allowing costs to those who, sometimes maddened by injustice, happen to be able to influence a tribunal in their favour.

One night it's "Let's all go down to the casino and really whirl it up on roulette!" The next night, "Let's all dress in sober black and be cautiously gracious to those we were determined to wrang."

The Olympics at Tokyo do not start until October 10 but, in accordance with a long-established custom, the bickering has already begun before the friendly contestants are on the track, over the pole, in the pool, throwing all those weights, discs and spears, and ending up head over heels in a sandpit.

In this case it is a preliminary squabble about whether a group of our leading athletes should have appeared on a BBC television program.

Once gathered together in the Land of the Rising Sun, however, the world's sportsmen will no doubt get down to some really serious quarrelling without which no major sporting event is complete.

Most of the major world powers now shrink from wars and military bravado and it seems that man's detestation of man has been gradually transferred to rival groups of human beings who are supposed to be at their

Today In History

All 39 persons aboard an American Overseas Airlines plane were killed 18 years ago today—in 1946—when it crashed into Hare Hill, near Stephenville, Nfld. At that time it was the worst civil aviation disaster in U.S. history. The plane was bound for Shannon, Ireland, from New York when it crashed 10 minutes after takeoff from Harmon Field, Nfld., where it had refuelled.

The modern motor car can kill you, distress you financially, and bore you beyond endurance in traffic jams.

But it can also do another remarkable thing.

It can temporarily change your personality. It can substitute near madness for reason, fury for calm, sense for idiocy.

One evening I was driving off the A40—that Via Dolorosa between London and South Wales—and behind me was an E-type Jaguar. I saw the car and the driver from the moment they got on my tail.

There was no room to pass, so I did the only thing available to me. I kept my station. Then a momentary gap appeared ahead of me and the driver of the Jaguar whipped by, shaking his fist and his face contorted with hate.

He was well dressed, quite good looking under his visage of fury, and indeed the kind of chap that, had you met him at his home or a club or a pub, would I am sure have been as civil as the best of us—and maybe more so.

But put this ton of flying metal in his hand, and he and thousands of others like him become maniacs of incivility, pulling faces and making obscene gestures that would appal them if they were out of their vehicle and on their two feet.

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde are indistinguishable twins of grace and charm compared with the modern motorist, who is also the modern pedestrian, when he leaves the pavement to get his foot on the accelerator.

Dateline: Europe

Only Mr. K. Remains

By OTTO VON HANSEBURG

THIS summer, death seriously decimated the ranks of the pro-Soviet Communist leadership. Thorez of France was followed by Palmiro Togliatti of Italy. Early in September came Elizabeth Gurley Flynn's turn. She had played a discreet but important role in the higher spheres of international Communism.

The deceased all belonged to the same generation. Despite differences in individual fate, their histories, especially their ideological evolution, were parallel. They were what was known as "young revolutionaries." They thus were more or less Khrushchev's age.

These coincidences draw attention to a major political reality of our days. Khrushchev is the last of the revolutionists still playing a public role. He is the only one of his generation to survive in the true sense of the word. Men like Molotov are only living corpses. Those who stand at Mr. K's side or follow him belong to an age-class whose evolution is completely different from their elders.

Khrushchev, Togliatti, and Thorez still lived in the harems of days. Literally or symbolically they had fought for the goals of Communism and had taken grave risks. Wars and revolutions show that nothing creates firmer loyalties than personal sacrifice in the service of a cause.

The new men have not experienced the great hours. Their rise to leading positions was due to intelligence, knowledge or intrigue. They are mostly bureaucrats rather than political fighters. Their attachment to ideology is not as passionate, religious, or unconditional as that of the older men. For them Communism is hence something different, even if they still repeat its age-worn slogans.

At present Marxism-Leninism is going through a grave crisis. The realities of the second technical revolution contradict many of its basic tenets. Even Khrushchev, a convinced Communist, is compelled to accept step by step "capitalist" principles. The new technocrats have no longer the same pangs of conscience. More and more they talk their enemy's language. Of course they try to make the unavoidable material adjustments while maintaining the existing political and ideological super-structure. But this is a hopeless endeavor.

The older generation of Communists has desperately tried—and Khrushchev still struggles today—to postpone the hour of truth when bankruptcy will have to be officially declared. When he is gone, this last resistance will crumble. With the disappearance of the historic names which represented the Communist past the day approaches when a technocrat will have to bow to the new realities.

Pineapple Kid Surprised To Meet Date

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — The Pineapple Kid and Miss Dawn Cope met for a blind date inspired by a note that floated from San Diego to Honolulu in an aspirin bottle.

The Pineapple Kid is the nickname of merchant seaman Robert Ventura, 24. Miss Cope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cope, is also sister of Kevin Cope, who tossed a bottle into the sea last June with a note signed "Dawn," reading:

"Dear whoever you are, what is going on wherever you are?"

Fishing later off Waikiki Beach, Ventura found the note and wrote Dawn for a date. Her parents agreed, and Dawn was at the dock when Ventura's ship came in — with her parents and Kevin.

Introduced, Ventura gulped, stammered, agreed "She's quite a girl."

Dawn Cope is 16 months old.

LOS ANGELES — Actor William Bendix and the Columbia Broadcasting System have reached an "amicable" out-of-court settlement of his $2,658,000 suit against the network. The actor claimed the network cancelled a planned television series on grounds Bendix was too ill to work.

ESSEN, West Germany — Alfred Krupp, ruler of one of Germany's great industrial empires, has bought back the last major firm of which he had to divest himself after the Second World War on orders of the allies, Krupp informants report.

LOS ANGELES — Orchestra leader George Liberace was divorced by his wife, Mrs. Jean Wilke Liberace, who testified he wouldn't speak to her for days, borrowed large sums of money without her knowledge and had her sign income tax returns before they were filled out.

RIPLEY, England — Actress Florence Desmond, 58, and her 25-year-old son Michael were bound and gagged by three gunmen who invaded their home Thursday. The robbers made off with $1,000 (about $18,000) worth of jewelry. Police are holding two men.

NEW YORK — Former president Dwight Eisenhower and his wife, Mamie, took a trip to the New York world's fair Friday. Visitors applauded him at every exhibit he attended.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Theodore Francis Green, the oldest former U.S. senator, and Senator Carl Hayden of Arizona, the oldest man in the Senate, exchanged birthday greetings Friday. Both were born on the same date but, while Green has reached 97, Hayden is 10 years younger.

OTTAWA — Daniel O'Connell, a 62-year-old transient, has done it again. For the 70th-odd time he has been convicted of breaking into the Dominican Fathers monastery here. Magistrate Joseph Seavey jailed him for eight months — guaranteeing Daniel food and shelter over the winter.

OTTAWA — Brig. Norman Wilson-Smith, 47, of Winnipeg, commander of the 3rd Canadian Infantry Brigade at Camp Gagetown, N.B., has been appointed commander of United Nations headquarters for the Nileas zone in Cyprus.

KELOWNA — An inquiry has been called into the electrocution Thursday of Mrs. Pearl Hudson, 76. It is believed she grabbed a lamp while bathing her feet in a pan of water.

CUNEO, Italy — Police say they have recovered several hundred thousand dollars worth of jewelry lost March 20, 1963, in the crash of King Saud's private jetliner in the Alps. The king was not aboard. Pietro Giacchi, 18; Marco Marchisio, 17, and Guido Gesso, 57, said they found the jewels while mountain climbing.

VANCOUVER — A burly thug tossed detergent into Harry Murphy's eyes and twisted the 76-year-old man's arm but he didn't get the $3,000 church payroll. Murphy, struggling with the thug, suffering a broken shoulder in the fracas, and shouted, scaring the robber into flight.

MEXICO CITY — President-elect Gustavo Diaz Ordaz has accepted an invitation to meet President Johnson somewhere in U.S. territory, probably on Johnson's Texas ranch. No date has been set for the meeting.

Norris Says Report On Banks 'Justified'

Mr. Justice T. G. Norris said Friday "present developments" apparently justify his findings as royal commissioner into Great Lakes waterfront strife.

The B.C. appeal court judge in his report denounced Hal Banks, former Canadian head of the Seafarers' International Union (I.S.U.) as a ruthless dictator.

Banks was fired from the job by government-imposed I.S.U. trustees last March. Since then sentenced to five years for conspiring to beat up a rival union official, he recently forfeited $25,000 cash bail by failing to show up for his appeal against the conviction.

FOUND EASILY — Justice Minister Favreau has said the RCMP and the FBI in the U.S. have failed to locate Banks but a Toronto newspaperman said Tuesday he had easily found the unionist on a yacht in New York City.

Mr. Justice Norris declined to comment on the newspaper story. "I don't wish to embarrass the minister of justice or the minister of labor, who have been doing a good job on the whole," the judge said in an interview.

NOT SURPRISED — "However, it would appear that present developments would certainly seem to justify the findings in my report, if any justification is needed."

The judge said he "wouldn't be surprised" if Banks' presence in New York was in some way connected with a longshoremen's strike on the U.S. east coast. "I'll bet the old devil is there for a reason."

Prisoners Were Free For Hour

LANGLEY, B.C. (CP) — Two prisoners who escaped from the municipal jail Friday had little more than an hour of freedom.

RCMP said George Fery, 37, and Charles Kovacs, in his 30s, were recaptured near the police building in this Fraser Valley community, about 35 miles east of Vancouver.

National Power Grid Sought by Bennett

Premier Bennett said Friday he will press for establishment of a national power grid at the federal provincial conference in Ottawa later this month.

The premier told a press conference he was greatly impressed by what he saw of the workings of the European power grid which serves countries on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

He said the same type of grid system could be used to link source of power in the northwest with markets in the east.

A national power grid was proposed by the Diefenbaker administration several years ago, then dropped when a survey showed it was not required at that time.

The premier and Attorney-General Robert Bonner will represent B.C. at the conference, which will be held in the week of Oct. 12.

The premiers and their wives will also meet the Queen during her visit to Ottawa Oct. 13.

Mr. Bennett said the scope of the Peace and Columbia projects has captured the imagination of European industrialists, who are interested as they have never been before in the investment potential of B.C.

A group of Austrian industrialists, including some interested in steel production here, will be arriving shortly to look over the province.

Other groups from other countries will follow in the next few months, the premier said.

Mr. Bennett said he will "highly prize" the set of six rare volumes of the writings of Capt. George Vancouver presented to him in London.

B.C. Provides Another $5,000 For Teacher Scholarships

Scholarships totalling $5,000 for teachers wishing to take advanced training during the 1965-66 academic year were announced Friday by Education Minister Leslie Peterson.

He said the fund, which over the past five years has enabled 13 B.C. teachers to undertake a year of post-graduate study in other parts of Canada and the U.S. or abroad, would provide two or three scholarships next year.

are intended as a means of rewarding, sincere, capable and devoted teachers, who have over the years made a real contribution to education in the classroom," Mr. Peterson said.

The minister said re-training is becoming an accepted part of today's work pattern.

Copies of scholarship regulations and application forms may be obtained from coordinator of teacher recruitment, department of education.

Girls' Fight Broken Up

BURNABY (CP) — Two teenage girls who agreed to physical combat on a field of honor to settle their differences were fined $25 by a juvenile court judge.

The battle was triggered days earlier when a 16-year-old brunette insulted a 15-year-old blonde.

"When the police arrived the girls were wrestling on the ground, both covered in blood," a prosecutor told the juvenile court Thursday.

Woman's Heirs Sought For $11,000 Shares

County administrator Ian Horne said Friday he is checking two possible relatives of an elderly woman who died in Vancouver Monday leaving $11,000 worth of common shares stuffed into nine shopping bags.

Mr. Horne said he is checking a Winnipeg woman who thinks she may be the dead woman's daughter and also an Alberta man who thought he was a nephew.

Mrs. Mary Hilda Hawkins had lived in Victoria for a week before leaving for Vancouver on her way to Winnipeg. She collapsed at a railway station and died later in hospital.

"This is not an unusual thing but identifying relatives must be done with a great deal of precision," he said.

The estate cannot be distributed for one year except by a court order.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 4 WORLD DAY FOR ANIMALS A Call to Action

Few people realize how millions of animals are suffering today.

All over the world a strenuous fight on behalf of those who are utterly helpless in man's hands is being waged by humanitarians. All over the world in citadels and churches, prayers will be offered on their behalf this day.

You are asked to offer your prayers and your support. "For evil to triumph, it is only necessary that good people do nothing."

NDP Awaits Hall Sale Approval

Victoria NDP constituency association is still awaiting approval to sell their hall from the Commonwealth Society, a provincial committee which holds all their property in trust.

The association earlier decided to ask $25,000 for their hall at 721 Courtney Street, but approval of the committee is required before the sale can proceed.

The association intends to invest the money at five per cent interest to provide operating capital for renting other facilities. An association official said Friday some inquiries have been made by prospective buyers.

City Artists Show Work For Judging

Between 30 and 40 works by Victoria artists were shown to be judged for possible inclusion in the sixth biennial of Canadian paintings.

William Townsend, assistant director of the Slade School of Fine Art, London, Eng., was in Victoria last week as part of a Canadian tour during which he will select paintings for an Ottawa exhibition next summer which will later go on tour.

Artists whose work has been selected are expected to be named early in December.

Diver Injured In Road Crash

CAMPBELL RIVER — One of four Victoria navy divers here to search for the bodies of two traffic accident victims was injured early Friday in a traffic accident.

AB David Arthur, 23, of 2225 Belmont, who was driving, was slightly injured when a front tire blowout caused a panel truck to leave a road and crash into a power pole.

The truck was described as a total loss, but the other divers escaped injury. They are CPO Murray Wilson, in charge of the group; PO Charles Greengrass, LS Donald Moriarty and AB Larry Johnston, all of Victoria.

Later in the day, the divers found the body of William Knowles, 18, of Campbell River, in Upper Campbell Lake.

The body of Marshall Abbott, 19, also of Campbell River, was found Thursday.

The two drowned early Wednesday when their car plunged from a trestle as they returned to their jobs at an Elk River Timber Co. camp on the Gold River Road from a visit to an injured fellow worker in hospital here.

Slap-Steal Suspect Faces Examination

A psychiatric examination was ordered in city magistrate's court Friday for a man charged with slapping a woman grocery clerk five times before stealing $7 from a stall.

Eivind Spill, 23, was remanded to Oct. 5. He was arrested Thursday night in the King's Hotel beer parlor, 648 Yates, less than an hour after police received the robbery report.

Mrs. Dorothy McAlpine of Jimmy Little's store, 2011 Quadra, said a man walked up to the cash register where she stood and opened the till five times. She slammed it each time in spite of a slap in the face each time. The man finally scooped up $7 and left.

Island Girl 4-H Choice

A Ladysmith girl is the only Vancouver Islander among nine B.C. 4-H members whose choices for the third annual inter-provincial 4-H exchange next year were announced Friday by provincial 4-H officials. Isabel Dunde will spend two weeks with a rural farm family in Prince Edward Island.

Couples Chased At Dances

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP) — A defence witness testified Friday that he had chased a half dozen teen-aged couples "almost continuously" during dances at a church here in 1962 and part of 1963.

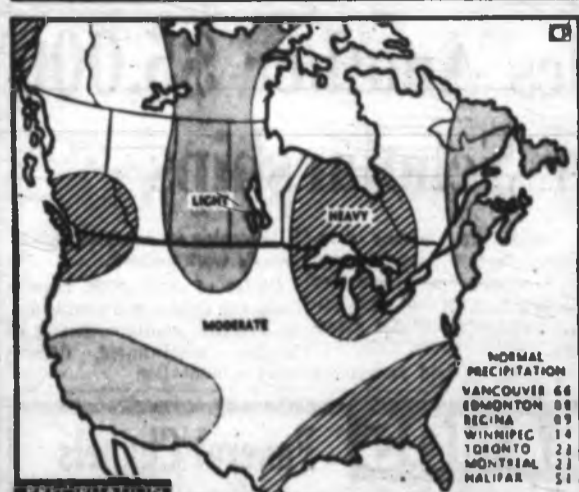

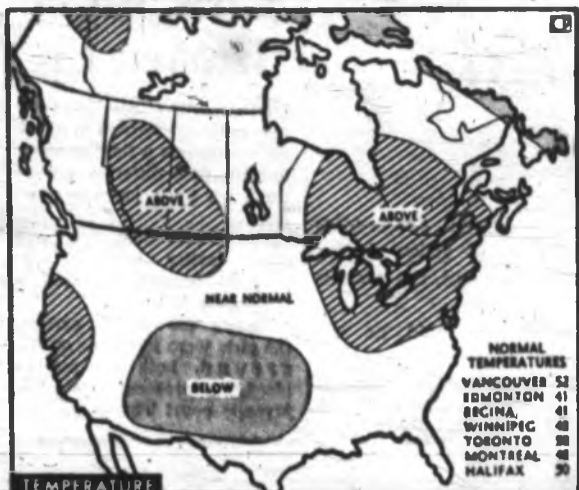

The witness, who said he has been a member of Park Street United Church for many years, testified during the sixth day of Rev. Russell D. Horeburgh's trial on eight charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency. Mr. Horeburgh has pleaded not guilty.

SHOWED HIM HOW

The man said he had broken one lock, wired another so it wouldn't work and removed the knobs from several doors in areas of the church building frequented by teen-agers. But even after that, a teen-ager showed him how to open one of the doors with a long knife blade.

He said he had found wine and whisky bottles in a church washroom where a window had been "kicked in."

Other times he had prevented boys and girls from "necking" in the church parlor, he said.

Soggy Time Ahead

Near-normal temperatures and heavy precipitation are in store for Victoria and rest of Vancouver Island during October, according to 30-day outlook of the U.S. weather bureau's long-range forecast.

Vacancies Soon Filled On Student Council

By JUDITH BAINES

The depleted ranks of the University of Victoria student council have been quickly replenished as four of the six positions open were filled by acclamation Friday.

Rollie Caechioni, fifth-year education, resigned his position as clubs director to take the post of vice-president.

Jean MacKenzie, second-year arts, was acclaimed social convener and Kathy Harvey, second-year arts, was acclaimed secretary. All three positions were vacated through resignations.

Position of Canadian Union of Students chairman was filled by Rosalind Boyd, a fourth-year arts student.

Lake Sniper Still Hunted

WILLIAMS LAKE (CP) — RCMP have questioned more than 50 people along 600 miles of shoreline on Quatlen Lake in their search for a sniper who traded shots with a forestry worker. The forestry worker was shot at once and fired two shots in return at a man in a boat.

Deaths Increase

LONDON (AP) — Road deaths in Britain this year are climbing at the same pace as the increase in the volume of traffic, the transport ministry reported.

'Help Indians Find Way'

A rehabilitation program for the Indians comparable in its thoroughness to the rehabilitation of servicemen after the Second World War was urged Friday by a national specialist in Indian affairs.

The executive director of the Indian-Eskimo Association of Canada, E. R. McEwen, spoke last evening in the Public Library to a meeting of Victoria Indian Arts and Welfare Society and earlier was interviewed by The Daily Colonist.

"The Indian has been isolated for 100 years; we've left him alone," he declared.

Mr. McEwen felt the isolated reserve system has made the Indian ill-equipped to integrate because the concepts of industry and development have passed them by, but he did not feel reserves should be abolished.

"We should develop the reserves where possible and set up a rehabilitation program to help them find their way into the productive community. We should help each step of the way."

Mr. McEwen felt that with opportunity and stimulation the Indian would develop his capacities.

A former teacher of Indian children in Manitoba, he said: "Indian children have the same aptitude as white children. All they need is incentive and opportunity and on most reserves there is neither."

Mr. McEwen felt the provinces should respond more to the needs of their Indian citizens, and not just leave their welfare to Ottawa.

He is looking forward to the possibilities for provincial initiative at a dominion-provincial conference on Indian affairs, the first of its kind, in Ottawa Oct. 29 and 30.

Last Year's Residents Only Voters

Only those Saanich residents eligible to vote in last year's municipal elections can cast ballots in the Oct. 24 byelection. Assistant municipal clerk Alan Ford said Friday the Municipal Act prohibits anyone from voting in the byelection who wasn't registered on the 1963-64 voters' list.

SIX CANDIDATES

So far six candidates have filed nomination papers and three others have indicated they will join the races for a reeve and one councillor.

Coun. Hugh Curtis and Lewis Adrian Haut, a HMC dockyard chauffeur, are the only official candidates for reeve.

Car salesman E. H. Olson, store salesman D. C. Mathison, contractor William Campbell and Lt.-Cmdr. Harry Shergold have all filed papers for the vacant council seat.

Motel operator Ed Lum and Victoria Ald. Millard Mooney have both indicated they may contest the reevehip. Victoria firefighter Edward Ball said he will try for the councillor's seat.

Judgment Later In Indian Case

Decision was reserved in Victoria appeal court Friday on a case that may decide whether Vancouver Island Indians have the right to hunt and fish on unoccupied lands throughout the season.

One possible effect of the judgment may be that the B.C. Game Act would have to be re-drafted to eliminate specific legislation pertaining to Indians. Under the British North America Act only the federal government has the power to legislate for Indians.

In the case now before the appeal court the Crown is seeking to appeal a judgment by Judge A. J. Swensky which quashed a conviction against Naamane Indian Clarence White and David Bob, fined $100 each for hunting game out of season.

An appeal court judge said last night he did not expect a decision would be handed down "for six weeks at a minimum."

Attempted Murder Charge

Cries for Mercy Ignored Witness Asserts in Court

Two men charged with attempted murder paid no attention to screams for mercy, a court was told Friday.

Chief prosecution witness Nicola Zegaric, 24, in his sixth hour of cross-examination, said his pleas of "Don't, don't," were ignored by his assailants.

NAMED ATTACKERS

He has named Rodney Leason, 22, of 1300 Gladstone, and Gary McWhirter, 20, of Sooke several times as his attackers.

The statements were made during a preliminary hearing in Saanich magistrate's court.

BEATING INCIDENT

In its third day, the hearing was mostly taken up by exhaustive cross-examination of the witness about the incidents that led up to his being beaten and sent to hospital for five days.

The Crown alleges McWhirter and Leason beat the man into unconsciousness and robbed him in a remote brush clearing near Prospect Lake.

Under insistent cross-examination by defence counsel Cecil Branson and Robert Price, the witness answered angrily and apologized to Magistrate William Oetler for his language.

He had been cautioned by the magistrate to use proper language at an earlier session, and Friday was ordered to answer all the questions put to him.

ANSWER QUESTIONS

"If the questions are objectionable, the Crown will object. In the meantime — answer the questions," he was told.

Friday's session was halted after more than three hours and will be resumed at 3 p.m. Monday. Arrangements were made among the court, Crown counsel Kenneth Murphy and defence counsel to continue through Tuesday afternoon and perhaps into Wednesday afternoon if necessary.

You can't mistake the fragrance of a hyacinth. It's the very breath of Springtime. White, yellow, red, pink, blue — they light up the area wherever they are. Tulips too. They range in color from pure white to almost black, from softest pink to deepest purple. They add special brilliance to any garden. And daffodils. They often beat the robin in announcing Spring. Their golden beauty — seemingly so fragile — defies winter's final blasts. Flower bulbs: so simple to grow; so easy to care for and so inexpensive. For the best, be sure they're marked "Imported from Holland."

Archbishop Sexton Celebrant, Preacher

Archbishop Harold E. Sexton will be both celebrant and preacher at the 11 a.m. Sung Eucharist as the 35th anniversary of the consecration of Christ Church Cathedral is celebrated on Michaelmas Day in 1929 the church was consecrated by Rev. Charles de Veber Scholfield, then bishop of the diocese of British Columbia.

The preacher at the service was the Lord Bishop of Winchester, and 18 other Canadian and American bishops took part.

A discussion period will follow the 7:30 p.m. service at Paul, the Servant of Christ at Emmanuel Baptist. In the morning Rev. Alvin C. Hamill will speak on A Lonesome Saint in his series on the prophets.

Harvest Festival will be celebrated at St. John's Anglican with Canon Biddle preaching at 11 a.m. At 7:30 p.m. there will be a Festal Evensong with Kenneth Ansell and the choir.

Engineer-radiographer Ralph D. Baver will be speaking at the Unitarian 9:15 a.m. and 11 a.m. services in the Optimist Building, 106 Superior Street, on Insecticides and Poisons in Our Food.

A panel discussion among two ministers and two laymen on the subject of the General Council of the United Church of Canada, which met this summer in Newfoundland, will be the feature of the 7:30 p.m. service at First United.

Participating will be Rev. E. Laura Butler of Metropolitan United, Rev. Howard G. Turpin of Esquimalt United and Mrs. William Harrison and B. C. Gracewell.

At the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services at First United, Chaplain Andrew J. Mowatt, RCN, will speak on the Bread of Life.

Memory work certificates and other awards will be presented at a special 11 a.m. church school service at St. Andrew's Presbyterian and Rev. Charles A. Scott will preach on Christian Education and the Home.

In the evening Dr. J. L. W. McLean gives a short series of sermons on The Presbyterian Perspective.

Jet Car Hits 413 MPH

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP)—Walt Arfons' jet-powered car, the "Wingfoot Express," broke a world speed record Friday, clocking 413.20 miles per hour on these western Utah salt flats.

The previous mark of 407.65 m.p.h. was set last year on the flats by Craig Breedlove, also in a jet-powered car. Tom Green of Wharton, Ill., drove the Arfons' designed car that averaged 415.09 m.p.h. over a distance of one kilometer and 413.20 m.p.h. over the distance of one mile.

Great Britain's speed ace

Donald Campbell has a mark of 403.139 m.p.h., set on the dry salt bed of Lake Eyre in southern Australia last July.

His car's engine was directly connected to the wheels. The wheels were directly turned by the engine and some claim that is the real land speed record.

In the slim and sleek four-wheeled "Wingfoot Express" the jet engine does not have a direct connection with the wheels.

But Green and Arfons consider their speed a record for a land vehicle, despite the technicality.

Cards, Reds Both Lose Orioles Finally 'Dead'

Seven clubs still had a chance to play in the world series yesterday morning. Last night, six of them were still hoping and only Baltimore Orioles knew for certain they would miss out on major baseball's finale.

New York's lowly Mets jammed things up in the National League where a four-way tie is still possible, by shutting out St. Louis Cardinals 1-0 behind southpaw Al Jackson while Philadelphia Phillies ended a 10-game losing streak by nipping Cincinnati Reds, 4-3.

Meanwhile, San Francisco Giants stayed alive as Bob Bolin pitched a three-hitter and struck out 11 in blanketing Chicago Cubs, 9-0.

The Phillies and Giants remain dormant, both needing a three-game sweep by the Mets in their St. Louis series to tie. The Reds can tie by beating the Phillies in the last game for both clubs on Sunday if the Cardinals lose one, could win if the Cards lose both their games.

While the Orioles dropped out of the American League race

despite a 10-4 rout of Detroit Tigers, the White Sox became dormant despite a 3-2, 5-4 sweep of Kansas City Athletics. New York Yankees assured themselves of no worse than a tie by beating Cleveland Indians, 5-2.

Four Sandown Winners

Phillips Finally Gets in Stride

By JIM TANG

Perhaps all that apprentice-rider Jack Phillips needed was a few live mounts.

For the first six days at Sandown Park, the 22-year-old Edmonton-born thoroughbred pilot drew little but blanks. He accepted 21 mounts without ever seeing Harry Filion behind his camera but in his defence it could be said he didn't really have much of a chance much of the time.

Things turned for the better on Wednesday, when he won on favored Blue Frame and then went out and copied the featured invitational handicap on Devonshire Cream.

HITS JACKPOT

Yesterday he hit the jackpot with four winners, a second and a third as he rode the card with a chance in each race.

He copied the first heat with a charging finish on Dark Doll, kept Fuddy's Orphan in front all the way in the second, was a front-running winner on Merrill's Mogul in the fourth and then got a camera verdict on Touchwood Miss in the fifth with another driving finish.

PLACE RACE

In between, he showed with Aaron's Rod in the third, failed with Charlie Mac in the sixth and Some Royal Flush in the seventh. Then he wound up with a place on Spree's Fancy in the eighth.

It gave Phillips, who had ridden 30 winners previously this year in Toronto and on the Prairie circuit, a part of the three extra pools.

Dark Doll combined with Lucky Legger for a $45.90 quinella, Merrill's Mogul with Temple Guard for an Exacta worth $115.90 and Spree's Fancy and Hi-Ma-Dan were worth $14 in the last-race quinella.

UPSET RACE

There were larger straight returns but the upset of the day came in the featured seventh race when M'Lord, a five-year-old gelding who had won six claiming races on the Prairies this year, made good in his second try against some of the better thoroughbreds here.

Beaten 13 lengths last Saturday when Glen Gordon ran his smasher, M'Lord had a bit easier field yesterday but one still considered too tough for a claimer. But with Morris Milne on him in his last Prairie win, in the Irons, M'Lord hung tough in the stretch to beat out War Summit and Gun-An-Noot. Win price was $15.20.

BREAKAGE: Gun-An-Noot became the first claimer of the meeting, going to veteran owner Billy Field for $1,600. Mutual play was up from last year for the first time, showing a jump of $7,000 and leaving the net loss for eight days an easy-to-reach $28,000.

For the second time in the meeting, Dark Hawk progeny ran one-two-three in one race when Dark Doll, Lucky Legger and Dark Banner finished in that order in the first. Apprentice Fred Finley, leading rider of the meeting, had to take off his mounts after the first race because of illness. . . .

George Harkness' Colwood Stables will be after a triple in today's fine card with Harlow, Amazing Message and Devonshire Cream all entered.

Bobby Cormack, certainly one of the better riders here, has won only four times in 50 rides. But he has been second 14 times. . . . Al Ventrella got his first win of the meeting when Copper Prince made it for the second time in the sixth . . . a couple of horses who once ran in better company, Fuddy's Orphan and Merrill's Mogul, yesterday found the track suitable for their needs. . . . the three-year-old Tenselon moved up yesterday after his big win and almost stole a race from his elders, losing a camera decision to Copper Prince. . . .

Probably the biggest overlay of the day was Touchwood Miss, who paid $14.70 for her win.

Phillips

Toronto Desperate, Healthy

B.C. Lions Tackle Argonauts

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
The West comes East this weekend to highlight Canadian Football League play and a victory for any of four teams could shake up the standings in both divisions.

Half the spotlight in the East will be shared by British Columbia Lions and Toronto Argonauts at Toronto tonight.

The Lions will be looking to strengthen their lead in the West as well as stretching their unbeaten streak to 10 games.

The Argos, who appear to be in better shape than they have been all season, can use a victory over the Lions to break a deadlock with the idle Montreal Alouettes for third place in the Eastern Conference.

Sunday at Hamilton, Saskatchewan Roughriders and the Tiger-Cats will move onto the stage and a victory for either club could prove to be vital. Win for Coach Ralph Sazio's Cats will give them a share of first place along with idle Ottawa Rough Riders.

CHANCE TO LEAD

Depending on how the Roughriders will have an opportunity to either take over the lead in the West should Vancouver lose, or remain one point back.

Not to be forgotten, however, is a Western Conference game

Sunday afternoon in Winnipeg, where the cellar-dwelling Blue Bombers play host to Calgary Stampeders. The Stamps, tied with Saskatchewan for second place, can also bring about an interesting situation with a win.

The Lions, rated as seven-point favorites to beat Argos, are considered to have a good chance of winding up the season without a loss, a feat which has never before been done in the CFL. Five of their remaining nine games are against second division clubs.

Much of their success can be attributed to the defensive corps which has given up only 82 points in nine games, an average of just little more than nine. Also, no team has scored more than two touchdowns against them in any match.

Island Hockey

Four Teams In League

A five-year-old dream by senior hockey organizations on Vancouver Island came true this week with the formation of the Vancouver Island Hockey League, including two teams from Victoria, one from Nanaimo and one team from Port Alberni.

The last island league folded in 1959 but with a new rink in Port Alberni and clubs in Nanaimo and Victoria the idea was re-kindled.

"We feel that this year will be just a start," league representative Keith Dorman said, "next year we think that we will draw entries from Duncan and Comox making it a six-team league."

TWO TEAMS

Victoria entries in the league will be the Victoria Cavaliers and the Saanich Canadians. Both teams are holdovers from the Victoria Senior Amateur Hockey League of last year.

Players from the four senior amateur teams in the Victoria league last year will fill the ranks of the two local entries and some of the more talented junior players have also been signed.

MAY PLAY

Ron Jay will be coaching the Cavaliers and the Saanich club will be coached by John Merrifield. It is expected Jay will double as a player if he can get in shape in time for the league opening.

Nanaimo's intermediate team, limited to exhibition games on the mainland last year, will be the Hub City's entry in the V.I.H.L. Most of the players are graduates of the Nanaimo Suburban League. Earl Robinson will again be coach.

OFF AND ON

Port Alberni has been playing strictly exhibition games both on and off the island.

"This may be surprising," Dorman said, "but Port Alberni is going to have one of the best teams in the league and could certainly give any Victoria club a good game."

NEW ARENA

Comox wants to play this year but is a question mark. The Air Force is building an arena in Comox but it is not scheduled for completion until December.

Comox, however, has had a team for the past year and would like to be included in the regular schedule but V.I.H.L. officials want to wait until the arena completion before they include them in regular play.

NOT SETTLED

Each team will play 18 league games. The playoff setup hasn't been settled.

Victoria's home games will be Monday nights at the Memorial Arena starting at 8 p.m.

Port Alberni will get Saturday nights as their home games last year drew crowds of 700. Their new arena has been outfitted with more seats in the end zones and this year the crowds are expected to be much higher.

Nanaimo's schedule has not been decided on as yet but it is expected they will also play most of their games on Saturday nights.

Chair Suffers As Reds Lose

CINCINNATI (AP) — Dick Sisler, acting manager of Cincinnati Reds, took a swift kick at a chair in his office Friday night after his team had dropped a 4-3 decision to Philadelphia Phillies and lost a chance to take over first place in the National League.

Even before the Reds went to bat in the final inning, they knew the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals had lost to New York Mets 1-0.

After Sisler kicked the chair he settled down a bit and said, "It was a game we thought we had in the bag but we didn't."

He said he felt that Cincinnati pitcher Jim O'Toole made a bad pitch to Tony Taylor when Taylor singled in the Phils' first run in a four-run uprising in the eighth inning.

"But you can't get on him," he said, "because he had pitched a beautiful game. But he should have known better than to do that."

Over in the Philadelphia clubhouse, where the Phils were celebrating the end of a 10-game losing streak, manager Gene Mauch said: "As long as the pencil doesn't get us, we have a chance," referring to the mathematical position of the Phils.

Leafs in Nanaimo Game with Canucks

NANAIMO — Victoria Maple Leafs get their first taste of Western Hockey League opposition here tonight when they play Vancouver Canucks in an exhibition game at 8 p.m.

Maple Leafs, last year's Denver Invaders, lost two games in the past week to Boston Bruins and Toronto Maple Leafs of the NHL. Canucks also bowed to those clubs.

The Victoria team opens its schedule next Friday night in Los Angeles and plays the

Mount Douglas Ties With Oak Bay, 1-1

Next games: Wednesday, Vic High at Esquimalt; Oak Bay at Mount Douglas; Esquimalt at Mount View. All matches at 4 p.m.

Mount Douglas grabbed its first point in the inter-high school soccer league yesterday as it held high-flying Oak Bay to a 1-1 draw.

The Bays, who roared to easy wins in their first two starts, were lucky to get the tie after

John Coates broke through the middle to score directly from the kickoff and Curt Clarke got the first of his two goals at the four-minute mark.

Clarke fought back to tie on goals by Jay Christison and Joe Milligan, but Phil Steen sent the Views into the lead to stay before the half ended.

TWO REPLIES

Steen, Clarke and Don Billarborough scored for Mount Douglas in the second half while Milligan and Gerry Punt replied for Esquimalt.

Esquimalt got two goals from centre-forward Ken Squires in its win over Vic High. Ken Hardy netted the other Esquimalt tally and Palle Poulsen and Doug Bainbridge scored for the Views.

Losing Wolves Sack Manager

Soccer Just Bit Like Baseball

By ALAN WALKER

LONDON (CP)—When a soccer team's fortunes fall, the manager's head cannot be far behind.

This standard rule was applied with its usual ruthlessness to Stan Cullis shortly after the English soccer season opened. His once-great Wolverhampton Wanderers found themselves in the cellar of the first division. The axe fell on Cullis. He was the 54th soccer manager to be sacked since the end of the Second World War. With 92 teams in all divisions, that adds up to a lot of sacrifices—an average of nearly six a team.

Cullis's dismissal came as no surprise. A week earlier Joe Mercer, who left Aston Villa during the close season, commented on Wolves' poor start and said: "Stan will need all his friends now."

What was surprising is that Wolves should do so badly not long after they had won the Football Association cup.

FINISHED 16TH

Cullis had played or worked for Wolves since the early 1930s. After a year as assistant manager he took over as manager in 1948 and steered the club to the cup in 1949. They won it again in 1958 but last year finished 16th in the 22-team division.

Their poor form last year was despite expenditure of £150,000 on new players Ray Crawford, Jimmy Melia, Pat Buckley and Bobby Woodruff.

"This was Cullis's Achilles heel," said Bernard Joy, former Arsenal player, after Cullis was sacked. "There was no one superior at finding and grooming youngsters, but his touch was unsure when it came to buying an established player."

The aftermath of the club's decision to dispense with Cullis proved there was more to the case than originally met the eye.

Sports writers, fans and players fumed for a couple of days and finally prodded Wolves' board of directors into issuing a statement. In it they spoke of "events and pressure inside the club" and "complaints and transfer requests from a number of established players."

DENIED RUMORS
Cullis denied these allegations. He also denied persistent rumors that he was in poor health and nearing a nervous breakdown.

Most writers here felt Cullis was just another manager who was blamed because other teams had proven better than his. When a top team suddenly slips, there is always bitterness and it tends to huddle on the manager's shoulders. Cullis knew this. He had said months ago:

"Being a manager is not a profession, it is a hazardous occupation. He cannot justify his work where it matters most—on the field. Only the players can do that."

There was some speculation that Cullis might join an Italian team at a high salary. He considered offers for a few days and then decided to leave football.

"I'm sick at the way I was dismissed," he said. "I don't think I'd ever feel the same about another club."

"My immediate plans, such as they are, are to try to find a job in this area." At 48, he feels he has a good chance to make a new career in another field.

MANSFIELD, Eng. TOKYO (CP)—The world's fastest woman over 400 and 800 metres, Sin Kim Dan of North Korea, appeared Friday to have a slim chance of being among the starters when the guns go off for these events in the Olympic Games later this month.

By far North Korea's best hope for a gold medal, she was among six athletes from that country facing a ban imposed by the International Amateur Athletic Federation, world governing body of track and field sports.

The games open next Saturday.

The federation has marked marked "ineligible" both on the six-member North Korean team and the five Indonesians entered in the Olympic track and field program, it was learned Friday.

The reason, said federation secretary Donald Pain, is that the federation clamped a ban on track and field athletes who took part in last year's unauthorized Games of the New Emerging Forces in Jakarta.

UNKNOWN IN WEST

Sin Kim Dan, virtually unknown in the Western world, is the only woman who has been consistent at around 53 seconds in the 400 and 2:01 in the 800. The 400 is a new event for women in the Olympics. The 800 was revived in 1960 after having been run only once before, in 1928. If by any chance the athletic federation repeals its ruling and Sin Dan does start, she will be a strong favorite in both events.

Meanwhile athletes continued to flock into the world's largest city from all over the world.

CANADIANS ARRIVE

The main body of the Canadian team, checking in by chartered plane from Vancouver, was among Friday's arrivals. The party included 131 athletes and officials.

About half of the 8,000 expected for the Games were here by Friday night.

At the pre-Olympic basketball tournament in Yokohama, where the last four berths in the Olympic championship tournament are at stake, Mexico and Australia have clinched two of them and Canada was strongly in contention for another.

The Canadians defeated Formosa 86-79 Friday for their fifth victory in seven games. Unbeaten Mexico won its seventh straight game, beating Indonesia 112-84.

The flags of some 30 nations have been raised officially at the Olympic village.

In other news, the Japanese meteorological agency predicted it will rain for five of the 14 competition days during the Games.

The meteorologists said the weather will generally be fine but perhaps overcast before the Games, and then in the first four days or so the skies will be clear.

Later rain could be expected, but the weather was likely to improve again for the last few days of competition.

Workmen are putting the last lick and polish on the ultra-modern structures where the Games will be staged from Oct. 10 to 24.

Garden Notes

Trees Add Grace

By M. V. CHESNUT F.R.H.S.

Some years ago, when the fortunes of business caused me to be transferred to the treeless plains of Saskatchewan, I vowed that I would plant trees until they were practically coming out of my ears as soon as I found myself in a suitable climate, for I have never seen a garden without trees that could be considered really interesting.

The lack of trees makes commonplace and dull a plot which would otherwise acquire grace and beauty, yet the misuse of trees has ruined many a promising scene. The worst form of misuse is, of course, the common fault of overcrowding, which leads inevitably to the day when a lovely tree must be mutilated with saw and secateurs.

In choosing trees for your garden, it is wise to keep in mind the architectural form or shape of the tree, the beauty of its foliage and the happy effect of its shadow pattern on the lawn. Actually, these points are more important than the blossoms, for the blooming period is short but the foliage is with you throughout the growing season, and the architectural form can delight the eye the whole year round.

There are four basic shapes in trees. The standard tree is one with a single trunk and a spreading head of foliage. A bush tree forks at or near ground level, with two or more main stems. The fastigate or columnar tree is slim, with upright branches, and of course, the weeping tree is a drooper.

The standard and bush tree take up the most room. The fastigate tree is ideal for the small garden, as it occupies little width for its height and gives an interesting architectural effect, but too many of them develop a sombre, funeral effect. This goes for the weeping trees too—it must not be overdone.

Fastigate trees immediately bring to mind the conifers and, as these are green all year round, they play an important part in garden design. Fletch's and Elwood's cypress are probably the best known and both are grand trees, although I have some slight preference for a cousin called Chamaecyparis lawsoniana erecta viridis. The Irish juniper is another superb columnar tree.

There are plenty of columnar trees which are not conifers, of course. One only has to think of the Lombardy poplar, for instance, although poplars are definitely NOT for the small garden—their roots are terribly invasive.

The best of the fastigiate, for my money, is a lovely Japanese cherry called Amanagawa—actually Prunus serrulata erecta—making a slim pillar of bluish pink blossoms in spring. Not very common and somewhat hard to come by is the fastigate hawthorne, Crataegus monogyna stricta, a quick-growing and easy pillar tree and a particularly happy choice for the small garden.

We have more weeping trees than you can shake a stick at, and the most commonly planted is the weeping willow. I may be prejudiced, but I have never been able to warm up to this tree—the thing reminds me of graveyards. The weeping birches are better, with a lacy, graceful effect, particularly the cut-leaved varieties.

For a smaller weeping tree, my choice again would be from the family of Japanese flowering cherries, either Cheal's Weeping or the weeping Yoshino cherry. An uncommon small weeper which wears a corolla of scarlet beads in autumn is Cotoneaster hybridus pendula—actually a shrub, but trained in the form of a small standard weeping tree.

JOHN CROSBY Meets Nottingham's Robin Hood

Sheriff Up to Old Tricks

NOTTINGHAM, England—You all remember Sherwood Forest and all that trouble back in the Middle Ages, don't you? Well, Sherwood Forest has largely disappeared, replaced by a housing development (isn't everything?), but there's a new Robin Hood up here named John Neville, director of the spanking new million-dollar Nottingham Playhouse, and damn if he isn't in trouble with the Sheriff of Nottingham, a fatcat old Tory named Alderman Dyer.

As always, the Sheriff of Nottingham is on the side of the vested interests. Neville and his merry men are rehearsing a political satire called Listen to the Knocking Bird by John Wells and Claude Cockburn.

The thing is all set in a brothel and the Tory councillors, which include the Sheriff, are trying to censor it because it smells a little too much like Jack Profumo and Christine Keeler, a scandal the Tories would just as soon everyone would forget around election time.

Actually the satire has nothing to do with Profumo—being based on Aristophanes' The Knights, which is pre-Profumo—and the Sheriff of Nottingham will probably lose, as he always has.

Nottingham has always been a storm centre. Besides Robin Hood, it produced Saturday Night and Sunday Morning, the movie about the seamy side of Britain's new working class, which caused quite a stir.

Now its handsome modern new playhouse which opened last December is the hottest political issue in town. It's a beautiful 750-seat playhouse which can transform itself from a conventional proscenium arch to theatre-in-the-round by hydraulic stages and other mechanical marvels and it's been a smash hit since it opened, not only with the city of Nottingham residents, but with the entire region which sends busloads of playgoers to it every night.

To my mind, this is the shape of things to come in the theatrical world, and Nottingham has a lesson for us all.

Neville, who is a very good actor, as well as a director, has reversed the old order altogether. In the old days, a young actor like Neville would have been born in Nottingham and devoted his whole energies to fleeing the sticks and winding up on Broadway or the West End of London playing Hamlet.

Actually he has—as he says—done all that already. He's played Hamlet in both London and New York and now he's in the provinces of his own free choice because that's where the fun is, though the money certainly isn't.

We were standing in the bar, which is built right into the theatre (it also has a restaurant and cafeteria) and he pointed to some young people at the nearby tables.

the hydraulic stages operate, let 'em watch a rehearsal, get them involved in the theatre."

But there's plenty of trouble with the Sheriff of Nottingham and the rest of the Tory councillors.

One of the scandals of the theatrical world here is the fact that the councillors are charging the repertory company £28,000 ($84,000) annual rent to use a theatre that was designed by the previous Labour government as a civil cultural treasure. It leaves very little to pay the actors and authors and the rest of them.

It's shocking avarice on the part of the town councillors. But then the rich, bad, old Sheriff of Nottingham has always been a problem here and I expect the repertory company £28,000 ($84,000) annual rent to use a

Women Torpedo Jayne's Career

Jayne Mansfield with her new husband

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Jayne Mansfield, complete with husband Mario Vitale Ottaviano, and large blonde wig, is off to London, town to make a movie in England. Heaven knows the offers have not been pouring in from Hollywood. . . . But with Mario, whose other name is Matt Cimber, in complete charge of her career, she is hoping that things will improve "all over." I don't like to rap a girl before things have improved, even "half over," but Jayne's career problem is that because of her wrong kind of publicity, she has alienated the women. And it is the women who decide which pictures to see. Mario is the third in her cycle of romantic Italians—there was Enrico Bomba who wasn't exactly a fiance on account of he was married and had no intention of getting a divorce, which is impossible in Italy anyway. And just before one of the reconciliations with Mickey Hargitay, there was singer Nelson Sardelli, and whatever happened to him? Personally I think that Mickey is better off in his minus Jayne status. He's a handsome Hungarian, but it's no fun being sandwiched between so many handsome Italians.

Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton are delaying the return to New York and Paris for about 10 days, while The Sandpiper has some locationing in Pompano which is not too far from Hollywood as the sandpiper flies.

Andre Previn called to say that it is his orchestration for the movie version of My Fair Lady, and that everyone is delighted with it. In that case, so am I. Andre is considered a genius in Hollywood where the term is used quite often. But in his case, well, he almost is.

Hayley Mills, growing up in a hurry, has a romance with Dean Jones in That Darn Cat, for Walt Disney. . . . And if the senior Mills do not give their permission for Hayley to star as Candy, then how about Jill Haworth? Jill has some tres sexy scenes with Kirk Douglas in In Harm's Way.

Spencer Tracy has lost pounds and pounds and is in fighting trim for his Cincinnati Kid with Steve McQueen at Metro. . . . While Dick Shawn will be $300,000 heavier from his 10 weeks in A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum at Las Vegas. Dick made exactly half that during his six months with the musical on Broadway.

David Welper's documentary on the late Marilyn Monroe should be the best yet on the tragic star. He interviewed everyone who knew her in the early days, including her mother in Camarillo state hospital. In going over Marilyn's old bills, David found one for a small white piano that was transported from coast to coast, wherever Marilyn went. In the first foster home after the orphanage, there was a piano and Marilyn had some lessons. The white piano was the first thing she bought when she had enough money for the down payment. It was the only thing she could relate to, the happiness she experienced taking those lessons and being like other children who were loved.

Sale Record Set When Woman Spends 10 Cents

A Saanich woman went to a giant department store sale this week and probably established some sort of record—she spent only 10 cents.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, 3824 Cadboro Bay, said she set off for the store to catch a 9 a.m. special, a set of dishes.

"Three blocks from the store I finally gave up any hope of getting into the store parking lot. The traffic tieup was terrific," she said.

Nearly every car had a woman driver with a violent look on her face and a heavy foot on the gas pedal, Mrs. Thomas said.

"I wondered how many poor husbands had been quickly handed a piece of cold toast and a cup of coffee on their way to work and then got caught in this traffic jam. Being late for work on an empty stomach can be grim."

"With a great deal of shuffling I reached the china department at exactly two minutes past nine. The dishes had all been sold, 100 sets. There was a fantastic lineup, some very irritated but most, like myself, people who were two minutes late."

Mrs. Thomas was only momentarily downhearted at missing the special item she came for and, instead, took note of what was going on.

"Every counter was surrounded by people. Clothing, shoes, hats were being tossed in the air, tugged at, pulled out of their folds and dropped on the floor. Children were being pushed and stepped on but were thoroughly enjoying themselves."

"The merchandise was well picked over and the cash registers were ringing loud and clear. I looked around for the closest exit and started struggling toward it."

When she reached home she felt very proud of herself. "I had only spent 10 cents and that was to park my car."

City hall speaker in Bill Baxter and he is referring to his special pet—the antique elevator which he runs up and down the three-floor-high shaft in the old building in Bastion Square.

An open cage of ornamental ironwork, brightly but tastefully bedizened with touches of red, green and gold, the old lady travels at a slow and stately pace.

Point of the story is that she got a thorough going-over this

Her pace is no faster, but she doesn't complain about lifting her human tonnage. And Bill feels better when she doesn't complain.

Police Checkpoints Catch Car Defects

Flying check points set up at several locations in the city Friday night caught many motorists with their mechanical defects showing, but a number of drivers checked were quick to have the faults corrected.

Less than an hour after the first cars were checked motorists started arriving at the police station with the necessary repairs effected.

City police and auxiliary policemen, six men to a crew, had checked out nearly 400 cars by 10 p.m. and expected to average about 100 cars an hour until the checkpoints were closed down around 2 a.m.

Three six-man crews were operating the checkpoints.

In addition to mechanical defects, police were checking for drivers' licences, registration and in the case of minors, insurance coverage.

Road blocks were set up on Rose Street, Quadra Street and Bay Street to check inbound traffic.

Later roadblocks moved to Douglas Street and Esquimalt Road to catch homeward-bound motorists.

Oak Bay police also set up road checks Friday night at Henderson Road and on Beach Drive by Oak Bay Marina, making traffic checks.

Senior Citizens' Building

No Major Paring

By A. H. MURPHY
Colonist City Hall Reporter

Despite the $48,000 difference between estimate of cost and actual tenders for the senior citizens' building in Centennial Square it is unlikely that plans will be pared to the "threadbare" stage.

Members of council, meeting Friday, seemed to agree that the best way to settle the problem was to make a few intelligent cuts in plans and acquire what money still is necessary by re-allocation of the capital budget.

RIGHT TO JUGGLE

The $3,000,000 capital budget, as approved by ratepayers, gives council the right to juggle projects and costs.

City projects architect, Rodrick Clark, working in collaboration with Clive Campbell, who drew up plans and estimates for the building, brought in a report to city centennial committee.

The committee sent the architects back to do further work on the basis of possible structural changes.

City Manager Dennis Young said that the low bidder for the contract, Farmer Construction, was prepared to enter into a contract on the basis of altered plans.

Aldermen were reluctant to delete the elevator from the building as was first proposed. Nor did they want to cut certain kitchen facilities.

"These things are important to older people," said Ald. A. W. Toome. "It seems to me that if we have to make any cuts it should not be here."

NO ENTHUSIASM

Mr. Young suggested that another way to raise the necessary money would be to defer building the shopping arcade in the square.

Mr. Young admitted that this move was advanced and received with little enthusiasm, despite the fact that it would provide $75,000.

Child Hit By Car, Unhurt

A child flew 20 feet through the air after running into the path of a car in front of his home at 3220 Maple Street Friday.

Apart from a badly scratched face, two-year-old John Schetter, was apparently free from injuries.

His parents took him to a city doctor for examination. He was treated for his scratches and released.

Witnesses told police the lad ran out of his house into the path of the car. He apparently was heading for the corner store.

Police said the car was driven by John Leonard Kellow, 1085 Hulford.

Purchase Bid

Library Needs To Grow

Seeking room for expansion, Victoria Public Library Board has asked city council to consider purchase of an adjacent property. Asking price, $75,000.

The land, at 1318 Blanshard, is now occupied by King Arthur's Round Table restaurant. It is 50 by 60 feet.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said Friday that he thinks city council should look into the matter. He could, he said, see that the land would soon be needed for the library.

The Library Board, at a recent meeting, passed a resolution "that Victoria city council be advised that the property would be desirable property to be obtained for library purposes and requesting that negotiations be commenced."

The letter pointed out that the library board has considered acquisition of this property important for a number of years. As far back as 1937 the board asked council to submit a bylaw to the electorate for purchase of the land.

Soapbox speaker Jenkins on campus

Socialist Speaker Surprised By Lack of Opposition

A Victoria socialist was "surprised" at the lack of opposition he encountered during a talk at the University of Victoria Friday.

George Jenkins, literature secretary of the Victoria local of the Socialist Party of Canada, was the first speaker in the new soapbox series sponsored by the university's debating union.

He spoke inside the crowded lecture hall during a noon hour and estimated he had an interested audience of 100 to 150. Future soapbox meetings are expected to be held outside the Students' Union Building and speakers will be from both the university and off campus.

Mr. Jenkins said he expected heckling and considerable questioning which would lead him into a debate with the students.

NO REACTION

"Most of them listened very intently but there was no reaction," he explained.

Mr. Jenkins told the audience today's world is divided into owners and non-owners of the means of production and distribution, "of buyers and sellers of labor power."

He said about 10 per cent of the population lives off the labors of the rest and explained that capitalism is the ruling force throughout the world.

"The Russian rulers use Communism to hide their capitalism (and) Western rulers use democracy to hide theirs," Mr. Jenkins said.

"(But) neither is democratic nor communist.

Democracy can't exist in a class-divided society," Mr. Jenkins explained and predicted there will be a democratic revolution if the working class makes a conscious effort to change their status and establish a free and equal society.

Friends Help Firm Stay In Business

Saanich Lumber Yards have not missed a day of business since being ravaged by fire Saturday night.

And according to co-owner Harold Neff, the firm has been able to carry on primarily through the kindness of friends and business associates.

Mr. Neff and partner J. K. Potts have set up a temporary office in a camping trailer parked in the lumber yard at 3041 Douglas.

The trailer, which has a phone with the usual number (EV 5-2486), was loaned to them by Ron Medler "who is only an acquaintance."

Mr. Neff explained that all but two city lumber firms offered the use of their yards and equipment after the fire.

If a customer orders lumber which Mr. Neff's firm can't supply, delivery is promised and the material is acquired from suppliers or other lumber yards.

ACTS OF KINDNESS
Mr. Neff described the offers as great acts of Christian kindness.

There are other reactions to the fire which stand out in his mind. "The morning after the fire, a customer who always had difficulty paying, drove all the way out to my home and paid his bill," Mr. Neff explained.

ONE-THIRD INSURED
He estimated the total loss at $130,000 of which only one-third was insured.

Crews are busy cleaning up the debris-strewn yard and the co-owners hope to start rebuilding soon.

Drying sheds and warehouse facilities will be built first, to be followed by the general display room and office.

'AS USUAL'

Mr. Neff expects the firm to be normal again by December. Meanwhile it's business as usual with thanks to the generosity of many.

Cannon Report Awaited

It won't be used to storm the legislative buildings but may be used for almost anything else.

"It" is a brass cannon which was acquired Friday afternoon by the staff of the University of Victoria's student newspaper, The Martlet.

But both the donor of the cannon and its intended use are still secret.

Editor-in-chief Peter Bower says the plot may be disclosed "sometime next week," but wouldn't offer any other clue.

Bennett Announces

New Tenders to Be Called On Three Gulf Ferries

By DON GAIN

New tenders will be called for construction of three ships for the B.C. ferry service's Gulf Islands run, Premier Bennett said Friday.

On Sept. 11 he announced that a $3,339,532 contract for the three ferries had been awarded to Victoria Machinery Depot.

Three unsuccessful bidders complained to deputy finance minister G. S. Bryson Sept. 18 about the awarding of the contract to VMD.

Representatives of Yarrows Ltd., Burrard Dry Dock Co. Ltd., North Vancouver, and Allied Shipbuilders Ltd., Vancouver, said the VMD should be disqualified because it did not meet the specifications of the tender.

President Harold Husband of VMD said he had not been officially notified of the government's intention to call for new bids.

"VMD has a letter of intent in connection with this contract," he said.

"Because of the award of this contract VMD has had to decline to bid on several other shipbuilding jobs requiring 1965 delivery," he said, "and this has meant further loss of business."

"I suppose it is the government's prerogative to call for new tenders if their original tender call conditions could not be met by any tenderer. However, in addition to loss of business, it puts us at a disadvantage in the new bid because all competitors know the prices of all bidders."

Mr. Husband said his firm has been engaged in the past two weeks in preparatory work for the contract.

He declined to say whether VMD would be rebidding on the three ferries.

Yarrows general manager John Wallace said his firm will rebid on all three vessels.

"We are pleased the ferry authority has come to this decision," he said.

General manager David Wallace of Burrard Dry Dock said his company would bid.

"I can't say whether on all three or not," he said, "but we are pleased the department has given consideration to our complaints."

Also pleased with the government's decision was president T. A. McLaren of Allied Shipbuilding.

"We'll look at it again from scratch," he said. "I can't say how many we'll bid on but we'll bid."

West Coast Road Washed Out

Heavy rains in the Port Renfrew area this week brought about the washout of a section of the West Coast Road Friday.

School and commercial bus services in the area shut down due to road conditions and major logging in the area was discontinued until the road could be repaired.

A public works department crew has been working on the washed out section and traffic is expected to get back to normal this afternoon.

Dynamite Experts Called

Two naval explosive experts were called to a Langford home Friday morning to investigate a dynamite scare.

Dynamite detonation wires were reported protruding from two holes about three feet deep and 1 1/2 inches in diameter drilled into rock in the basement of a house at 2330 Westwick.

A naval spokesman said there was no danger. "There was only refuse left of the original small charges remaining at the bottom of the drilled holes," he said.

Island Youths Found On Mainland

Two youths who rented a boat in Brentwood Tuesday about 1 p.m. have been located by RCMP in Hope.

It was first believed Larry Boudreau, 14, of Marchants Road, and Lindsay Scott, 15, of 7061 Brentwood Drive, might have come to grief in the heavy weather Tuesday.

The rented boat was discovered Thursday morning near the B.C. Government ferry terminal at Tsawwassen on the mainland. The boys were located Friday.

Victoria, Albert

No Strangers To Tantrums

By JOSEPH MacSWEN

LONDON (CP) — Remember all that stuff about Victoria and Albert—the Royal lovebirds living in constant wedded bliss?

Well, you can forget the 100-year-old myth. Queen Victoria and her beloved consort, it turns out, were no strangers to tears, tantrums and rages.

And what about that endlessly quoted expression of Victoria's that "We are not amused." The fact is that Victoria could get a smile out of practically anything. Her diaries and letters abound with the words "very amused."

Princess Albert, by the way, was not the starchy figure of popular caricature. He was a Teutonic tramp, according to Victoria. She wrote after he just came to London that Albert "kept the breakfast table in a roar with his witty remarks."

All this is revealed in Lady Longford's 600-page Victoria R.I., the first biography written with full access to the Royal archives of the Queen who gave her name to an era of history.

But, oh, those family quarrels: an early case of friction was the upbringing of the baby Princess Royal, one of nine children. She was pale and thin as a child.

pink-sugared image of the pair we used to have."

DOTED ON DEATH

The magazine New Statesman, reviewing the biography, detects an obsession with death in Victoria's character, even with the demise of minor officials whose anniversaries were duly observed.

"In life she treated her mother with a mixture of cruelty and condescension," says the weekly. "But she set up an impressive caterwauling when, in due course, the poor lady died."

"And this was merely a curtain-raiser for the obsequies of Albert, which occupied an entire decade."

Several reviewers, their sensibilities perhaps sharpened by the forthcoming British election, are fascinated by Victoria's rather reactionary views on democracy.

She had "no intention" of becoming "sovereign of a democracy," she once wrote. In 1862, when the Tories were defeated, she added that it seemed a constitutional defect to "have to part with an admirable government like Lord Salisbury's for no question of any importance... merely on account of the number of votes."

WROTE LETTERS

One day in January, 1842, Victoria's temper flared. Albert's "pent-up fury" came roaring out. There was a quarrel, a flood of tears. The seething prince advised the Queen by letter to "take the child away and do as you like and if she dies you will have it on your conscience."

The Queen and Albert, incidentally, exchanged letters constantly while living in the same house and even though she followed him from room to room when they quarrelled.

Albert, with his passion for efficiency, was goaded beyond endurance by frivolity in the court. And apparently, like other husbands, he never penetrated the female mind.

"He was no tactician in the field of feminine emotions," writes Lady Longford. "All Victoria wanted was an explosion followed by a good cry, kiss and make up."

They were, of course, a devoted couple despite flareups. "There were disagreements, there were storms, but more often day after day of cloudless happiness," says Lady Longford.

The London Daily Mail comments: "How much more likeable and warming than the

Blue and White Theme Of St. Edward's Wedding

St. Edward's Church in Duncan was the setting recently for the ceremony uniting in marriage Eula-Rae Pringle and Mr. Patrick David Milino. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pringle and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Milino, all of Duncan.

Large baskets of gladiolus and white roses flanked the altar for the wedding which was performed by Father J. Viney.

Given in marriage by her father, the petite bride was lovely in a short style gown of heavy Duchess satin featuring deep pleats in the skirt front and a Chantilly lace over-jacket with lily point sleeves. Her chapel veil mistled from a tiny pearl crown and her only jewelry was a silver wishbone with cultured pearls and diamonds, gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses, stephanotis and trailing ivy.

Miss Cherri Lynn Pringle, as her sister's only attendant was in an ice blue crystal silk gown with deep pleats and matching over-jacket. A silk headband on tone caught her pale blue tulle veil and she carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds and stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a silver bracelet, gift of the bride.

MR. AND MRS. DAVE MILINO

Mr. Robert Roy was best man. Mr. Herbert Mould and Mr. Gregory Lincoln were ushers.

Const. Jim Wilson proposed the toast to the bride at the reception which followed in the Alderlea. Three-tiered cake, decorated with blue rosebuds, to match attendant's gown, centred the bride's table.

For her going-away ensemble the bride wore a black wool suit, with blue and green flecks, and black accessories. A pink rosebud corsage complemented her outfit.

On their return from a motor trip to Oregon and California Mr. and Mrs. Milino will make their home at 6008 Mary Street, Duncan.

Among the guests from Victoria were Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Droob, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Fantilla, Mr. A. Fantilla, Mr. and Mrs. A. McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. William Dudley, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Tribe, Mrs. Ed Newman and Miss Dorothy Marsden. Other out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Milino and Doug and Frank Kamloops; Mr. and Mrs. J. Milino and John and Wendy, Calgary.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Can you help us understand a new girl in our crowd? She is a high school junior and we like her very much, but something about her is a mystery. It is also irritating.

Veronica has a habit of laughing out loud over absolutely nothing. Her laugh is sort of shrill—almost a shriek. It can get on a person's nerves. If I say to her "What did you do last night?", she will reply: "Nothing much—stayed home, looked at TV and washed my hair." Then she gives out with this piercing laugh.

Once I asked her what was so funny and she answered "Nothing."

Is her sense of humor superior? Can it be that we are too dense to get the point and she doesn't want to explain things? Thanks for your help.—THE CROWD.

Dear Crowd: Veronica laughs because she is self-conscious, not because she thinks something is funny.

Say nothing but try to make her feel comfortable and she will laugh less.

Dear Ann Landers: Three years ago I wrote to you about my husband and another woman. When I learned of the affair I was crushed. He got down on his knees and swore the affair meant nothing and if I would forgive him he would spend the rest of his life making it up to me.

Your advice was, "Forgive and forget. Trust him: He won't fail you." Well, I took your advice and three months ago it happened again—this time in my own home—with my dearest friend.

I saw it coming but decided if he was one of those immature men who had to cheat I'd rather cheat with someone I know and like.

Here is the problem: My husband has been so ashamed since I caught them that he can't hold up his head in this woman's presence. He doesn't want her in our house ever again.

Frankly, I like this woman and magnificent bursts of color.

To heck with great artists like Michelangelo, Raphael, Gauguin, Renoir, Rembrandt and Van Gogh. They are too exquisite for our ugly minds. We are captivated by the modern slop.—BARCLAY SQUARE.

Dear Square: You write so well it's a shame you never learned to read. What I said was, "There is good modern art and there is bad modern art—there is good representation and there is bad representation." I don't pretend to know a great deal about either.

The mail on this subject contained knocks from both sides—equal in number, which proves again that the middle of the road is the most dangerous place of all. That's where most accidents happen.

Dear Ann Landers: So now you are an art critic in addition to your other talents—talents too numerous to mention.

You answered Thelma like a real pro. When she said the prize-winning painting was nothing but a solid black canvas you told her the judges thought they saw something more than just solid black.

Of course they did. They were probably drinking vodka martinis the night before the judging and they saw swirls

Russian Women to Visit

A luncheon has been planned at the Tally-Ho Travelodge next Tuesday to honor four Russian women, here on the first leg of a two-week trans-Canada tour. The luncheon is being arranged by the Victoria Committee for International Co-operation Year under its president, Mr. Robert Dudley, and the Victoria branch of the Voice of Women, led by Mrs. Clara Yarwood. The four visitors are Mrs. Z. V. Mironova, deputy chief of the Second European Department of the ministry for foreign affairs; Mrs. M. M. Bantseva, physiologist; Mrs. A. D. Nesterenko, a boarding school principal, and Mrs. N. Bladkevich, an engineer-economist.

Greetings from the provincial government will be given by Hon. P. A. Gagliardi. Alderman and Mrs. Robert Baird will represent the city.

Following luncheon, the visitors will be taken on conducted tours of the Legislative Buildings and the city. They will leave on the next step of their Canadian tour that evening. The visit was arranged when a delegation of the Voice of Women visited Moscow last year.

Miss Margaret Ann (Peggy) Northwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Northwood, 3876 Douglas Street and Mr. Edwin Gordon Tomlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tomlin,

No Longer Coy

Women of India Becoming Interested in Politics

BOMBAY (CP)—The women of India are emerging as a powerful force in the politics of the country.

It no longer is true to say of them that they are disinterested in politics, totally obedient to their husbands and coy in the presence of men.

Indian opposition parties are attaching more importance to the participation of women in anti-government rallies and processions. Some parties have organized special women's branches.

Of the 18,000 Communists arrested recently during a "passive resistance" campaign to bring down food prices, as many as 3,000 were women.

The Democratic Socialists Ruling Congress party is making first such conference in British Columbia. Pictured upper left, Miss Helen Tetlev and Miss Ruth Tillman, both of Toronto; Mrs. Pearkes, Mrs. W. Harrison, conference chairman; Mrs. G. W. Haglund and Miss Margaret Walker.

Bride Carries Pink Bouquet

Tail baskets of chrysanthemums, dahlias and gladiolus decorated Cordova Bay United Church Friday evening for the marriage of Joan Evelyn Youell and Mr. Paul Anthony Howe.

Rev. Millard Alexander heard the nuptial vows for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Youell, 6207 Welch Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howe, 834 Bardsey Road.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in an exquisite floor-length gown of nylon peau de soie styled with detachable peau de soie train lined with nylon net. Lace appliques enhanced the skirt front and the square neckline of the fitted bodice. A cluster of small rosebuds held the bride's chapel-length veil and roses, pink carnations and ivy were in her crescent bouquet.

Short gowns of aquamarine nylon, styled with scooped neckline and full skirt, caught at the waist in back with single bridal rose, were worn by matron-of-honor Mrs. Joy Fiddick, bride's sister, and Mrs. Sharon Youell, bridesmaid. They wore matching whimsies and carried cascades of pink carnations.

Flower girls, the Misses Wendy and Debbie Youell, the bride's nieces, wore in bluish pink polished cotton frocks styled with short, embroidered skirts. They wore matching head bandeaux and carried white baskets of pink carnations.

Mr. David Howe was best man for his brother. Ushering guests to pews marked with pink carnations and white ribbons were Mr. Philip Howe and Mr. Barry Youell.

A three-tiered wedding cake, trimmed with pink roses, centred the bride's table at the reception which followed in Club Solo. White, pink and yellow gladiolus and white candelabra completed the table decorations.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip through the interior of B.C., the bride chose a Venetian blue suit with ash rose hat and gloves as her going-away outfit. She wore black patent accessories and a corsage of pink Rapture roses and carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Howe will make their home at 842 Seven Oaks Road on their return.

First To Fly

NEW YORK (UPI)—A woman who more than half a century ago set an aviation first for her sex would like to see a U.S. landing on the moon—eventually.

"But what's the hurry," asked Blanche Stuart Scott, "Surely we must continue to pioneer, but why is it we have to beat the Russians? That money could be spent now on many things needed here—education, slum clearance, housing..."

(The estimated overall cost of the moon project is $20,000,000,000.) Miss Scott, who lives in Rochester, N.Y., talked of the U.S. program to place a man on the moon by 1968, of women as astronauts and as commercial pilots when she was in New York for the annual reunion of the early birds.

The early birds is an organization of aviation pioneers—all flew before 1916. Miss Scott, one of the few women members of the group, said the U.S. Air Force credits her officially with a flight Sept. 6, 1910, to make her the first woman to fly alone.

Keenleysides

Wife Clutched Tail of Comet

For 30 years Hugh Keenleyside was a civil servant and often taking his wife Katherine with him.

It was like clutching the tail of a comet, Mrs. Keenleyside says.

Still on a shuttle service between their Victoria home and Vancouver, she has confined herself in the last few years to just one world cruise.

Dr. Keenleyside, co-chairman of the British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority, was a Canadian diplomat making with Lester Pearson and Norman Robertson. He was later responsible for the disposition of tens of millions of dollars as director of the United Nations' technical assistance administration from 1950 to 1954.

Mrs. Keenleyside liked to travel with him when she could. She was conditioned to a rootless life from the start. Sir Charles Melville Hays, president of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, had a dream of a major seaport high on the B.C. coast and commissioned Boston landscape architects Brett and Hall to lay out the plan.

Most of the dream died with Sir Charles in the 1912 Titanic disaster. But among the men who came from Massachusetts to lay the foundation for today's Prince Rupert, B.C., 500 miles northwest of Vancouver, was Kathy Pillsbury's dad.

She moved to the town, went to its high school, and became its first student to go on to the University of B.C.

On graduation she took up social and dietetics work for a New York City health and nursing unit in East Harlem. She returned subsequently to Vancouver to marry young Keenleyside.

MRS. KEENLEYSIDE

They had met across a UBC debating table. He won the resolve that "life in the Eliza than age was preferable to life today."

VISITED GREAT WALL

Then came what she likes to call the "pre-Japan" children. Mary and Miles, while Dr. Keenleyside was teaching at Syracuse and UBC. The wife of the first secretary of the Tokyo legation, a post that lasted from 1929 to 1936, headed the Tokyo Women's Club which had been founded in 1908 as a debating society by Dr. Marie Stopes, famed British sociologist.

"It was a beautiful country," she recalls. "We didn't collect treasures, but we saw the country where tourists never went." One trip took Mrs. Keenleyside and her sister-in-law to China for an enchanting train expedition to the Great Wall.

Through the 1940s Dr. Keenleyside was Canadian ambassador to Mexico, chairman of the Northwest Territories Council, and one of the men entrusted with heavy responsibilities in U.S.-Canada joint planning on defence and resources.

SEVEN GRANDCHILDREN

The first UN work came in 1949 when he headed the Canadian delegation to a conference on the conservation and utilization of resources. It led to the job as director of technical assistance.

Meanwhile "pre-Japan" children Mary and Miles, and "post-Japan" arrivals Anne and Lynn, were growing up. With all four married, she now counts seven grandchildren.

The 1950s saw Mrs. Keenleyside travel twice to Europe, once for an extended stay, but she made little attempt to keep up with her husband.

She made up for it two years ago while he was at a Melbourne power conference, when she took a Dutch cargo ship around the world to see "all the places Hugh had been."

She says she is scheming to get her husband on a slow boat to Japan. Until then, both have responsibilities, including her work with the Voice of Woman.

Queen Security Captive?

By RICHARD JACKSON
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Are Quebec terrorists making a Sunday morning prisoner of the Queen aboard the royal yacht Britannia?

Those in charge of the royal visit say no, and definitely. They insisted Friday that the Queen and Prince Philip will attend Anglican services at Quebec City on Sunday, Oct. 11, not in church, but aboard the Britannia, "has nothing, absolutely nothing to do with security."

That the Queen, being afforded the most immense security safeguards ever provided in Canada — both in sheer manpower and multiplicity of measures — will be attending divine services in the middle of the St. Lawrence River, well out from the Quebec City shoreline, is nothing more, they say, than "sheer coincidence."

But... This form of waterborne service breaks dramatically with royal visit tradition on the Sabbath.

... And the "coincidence" is made even more remarkable when it is recalled that the Anglican church in Quebec City she traditionally would have attended under other circumstances, the Cathedral of the Holy Trinity, is the first Church of England ever built outside the British Isles.

(The cathedral was dedicated in 1804, but the parish was established as far back as 1768.)

To conduct the service aboard the Britannia on Oct. 11, Rt. Rev. Russell F. Brown of Quebec City will go out in a boat tender from the dock to the yacht.

The royal visit committee, it was learned, for a time had considered arranging with Anglican Church authorities

SPY CHARGES DROPPED

NEW YORK (AP) — The prosecution on direct, urgent orders from Washington suddenly and surprisingly dropped Friday its federal spy case against a Russian mystery couple — indicating it did not want to bare its counter-spy secrets of the cold war in open court.

The defendants had time only to exchange a congratulatory kiss before they were picked up by immigration authorities, to await deportation proceedings. The woman's eyes were filled with tears.

The development stunned a Brooklyn courtroom, where a jury of 11 men and one woman had just been completed in the fifth day of the espionage trial of Alexandre Sokolov, 41, a Russian of vague background, and his 34-year-old wife, whose real name is not even known to U.S. authorities. The indictment called her Jane Doe.

The only explanation on record for abandoning the case was "the interests of national security."

JUDGE APPROVES

Airliner Plunges — 80 Lost

CARTAGENA, Spain (UPI) — A French airliner with 80 persons aboard crashed into the Mediterranean 45 miles off this port Friday. After an all-night search no survivors had been sighted and rescuers feared the plane had sunk.

Twenty ships converged on the crash scene after the wreckage was sighted late Friday by a French plane. Flares aided by the scene.

IN CONFIRMATION

About 12 hours after the crash, a Spanish air force rescue plane had radioed that it saw "some survivors."

Spanish rescue headquarters said, however, there was "so far no official confirmation of any survivors."

Seven crewmen and 73 passengers — all of them French except for two Mauritanians — were reported aboard the plane, operated by the French firm Union Transports Aeronautiques.

Strike Ends

Suspended by Cabinet

Purchaser Charged

By IAN STREET
Colonist Legislative Reporter

The provincial cabinet met in emergency session late Friday to order the suspension of a senior B.C. official who was responsible for many millions of dollars in government purchases each year.

The action came about four hours after George Jones, chairman of the government's purchasing commission, appeared in magistrate's court on a charge under one of the bribery sections of the Criminal Code of Canada.

No plea was taken Friday and Mr. Jones and former automobile dealer George Hanks were remanded on $2,000 bail each until next Tuesday.

FROM TORONTO

Mr. Jones was appointed to the $10,600 a year job of chairman of the three-man purchasing commission in 1956. At that time Premier Bennett said he had come from Toronto where he held a purchasing job for a federal government branch.

The chairman of the purchasing commission is one of only two provincial officials who are not responsible to the cabinet but to the legislative assembly.

As such he is permitted to hold office during good behavior and can only be removed by address from the legislative assembly.

JUST RETURNED

Premier Bennett returned from Europe only a few hours before the official was arrested by RCMP in the purchasing commission's office on Superior Street Friday morning.

Refugees Choke Roads

Hilda Heads for Coast, 125,000 Flee for Lives

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Hurricane Hilda drove its terrifying 130 mile-an-hour winds late Friday toward a Louisiana Gulf Coast from which more than 125,000 persons had fled.

The massive storm churned northward through a raging

Gulf of Mexico at a sluggish six m.p.h. It appeared to be shifting east just enough to cause concern to sprawling, below-sea-level New Orleans.

MASS EVACUATION

Frank G. Spiess, acting state civil defence director, estimated 125,000 persons had left the low-lying coastal areas with the count not yet complete. It was probably the largest mass evacuation in the history of Louisiana.

As Hilda ploughed north, uncertain of its exact land target, more than 1,000,000 South Louisianians kept a constant watch on its progress.

LARGER THAN MARITIMES

The giant storm with its buffeting gales and winds covers 70,000 square miles — nearly 20-

000 square miles larger than the combined area of Canada's Maritime provinces.

The job of feeding and caring for the mounting swell of refugees quickly became a formidable one. The U.S. Red Cross sent in 10,000 cots and 20,000 blankets to the Lake Charles and Lafayette areas.

Hurled Egg Hits Home On Back

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE, England (Reuters) — Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home was hit by an egg Friday.

Douglas-Home was hit in the back as he was climbing into his car. The egg splattered over his blue suit.

Police chased a bespectacled youth.

The prime minister did not at first realize he had been hit by an egg.

"He thought someone had given him a rather heavy pat on the back," said Lord Oakeshot.

Suicide Leaps, Kills Tourist

PARIS (UPI) — A woman who committed suicide by leaping from the 230-foot tower of Notre Dame Cathedral struck and killed an American woman tourist Friday a few feet from a French lottery poster proclaiming: "Today Is Your Lucky Day."

The tourist was Miss Veronica McConnell, 24, a pretty dark-haired X-ray technician of Philadelphia. She had arrived Thursday night with 38 young American tourists on a bus tour of Europe.

The suicide carried no identification, but police said her father identified her as Miss Denise Rey-Herns, 37, of Saint Prix, near Paris.

She was only the 12th known suicide from the tower in Notre Dame's 800-year-old history. The Eiffel Tower has claimed 334 victims.

Bennett Says Northland Full Partner in Union

Kiernan Will Act As B.C. Ambassador

Recreation Minister Kiernan will act as B.C.'s ambassador in preliminary discussions on the question of union with the Yukon.

Premier Bennett said yesterday he hoped the minister, who has previously held portfolios of mines and agriculture, would agree to explain the benefits to both B.C. and the northern territories.

The invitation to send a B.C. representative to discuss the proposal made by Premier Bennett on his visit to Whitehorse last month came from the Chamber of Commerce in the Yukon's administrative centre.

By IAN STREET
Colonist Legislative Reporter

Yukon and Northwest Territories west of the 120 meridian would be "full-fledged partners" if they decided to join B.C., Premier Bennett said Friday.

He told a press conference on his return from Europe that his "suggestion" that the northern territories join B.C. was part of the government's long-range development plan for the north.

And the premier predicted that if the promised $302,000,000 program for paving the Alaska Highway and other key northern routes was carried out B.C. tourist business would show dramatic growth.

Mr. Bennett said in a few years the increase in travel by Americans to Alaska, both going and returning by way of B.C. would boost the annual

Subpoena Given Banks in U.S.

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says a United States federal marshal served a subpoena late Friday on Harold C. Banks for deposition in a $5,000,000 damage suit against three U.S. unions by Upper Lakes Shipping Limited of Toronto.

The newspaper said the marshal boarded a cruiser owned by the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.) in Mill Basin, Brooklyn, and obtained Banks' signature on a receipt for the subpoena.

In Ottawa, an opposition demand in the House of Commons for a special inquiry into the circumstances surrounding Banks' bail-jumping flight to the United States was flatly rejected Friday by Prime Minister Pearson.

"No such inquiry is necessary," he told the Commons. "I think the facts are quite clear and I do not think any useful purpose would be served at this time by establishing that kind of inquiry."

Separatists May Hinder Cavalcade

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec separatists plan to use passive tactics in demonstrations during the Queen's visit next Friday.

Pierre Bourque of Montreal, president of Le Rassemblement pour l'Indépendance Nationale said the movement has picked up tips of such tactics from persons linked to the Congress of Racial Equality in the U.S.

He condemned, in an interview Friday an article in the underground separatist organ Le Copeque (The Hatchet) outlining methods of starting a riot.

Would RIN members go to the point of throwing themselves down before the royal cavalcade?

"That could be the type of demonstration," he replied.

Names Kept Secret

Indictments Out In Civil Rights Case

BILLOKI, Miss. (UPI) — A federal grand jury investigating the slaying of three civil rights workers this summer returned two indictments Friday, but refused any information until arrests are made.

The grand jury foreman, Jackson insurance executive Dallas Cowan, told U.S. District Judge Sidney Mize that "we have completed our assignment and have two bills to return."

Mize told the jurors, including

22 whites and one Negro, "not to give out any information about this case until the defendants are placed under arrest. I think it would be wise to keep it secret now."

The men disappeared June 21, shortly after being released from the Neshoba county jail at Philadelphia, Miss. On Aug. 4, obviously acting on a tip, FBI agents using a bulldozer uncovered their bodies deep in an earthen dam near Philadelphia.

All three had been shot.

Alberta Cancer Fund Official Accused in $100,000 Theft

CALGARY (CP) — Robert Neville Talbot, 54, charged with theft of $100,000 from the Alberta division, Canadian Cancer Society, was returned to police custody Friday night to face additional charges.

Police said $25,000 bail granted Talbot earlier was cancelled and he was in jail after being charged with four counts of uttering a forged document.

Talbot, executive director of the division, showed no emotion earlier Friday when he appeared in court to hear the theft charge read against him. He wore a topcoat and dark glasses and was not represented by counsel.

The magistrate remanded him to Oct. 9 on the charge of theft.

Police said a theft, which they believed was the largest recorded in the city, occurred during a period of about nine months, dating back to Jan. 1.

They added that a theft was carried out through manipulation of cheques issued to non-existent society employees supposedly hired to perform house-keeping duties for cancer patients.

before Talbot's arrest Thursday.

"No one on the provincial executive had any indication of this," she said. "We are all deeply shocked."

Miss Tennant said she would call a meeting of the provincial board of directors as soon as possible. Representatives of the national executive would fly from Toronto to attend.

She noted all employees of the society are fully bonded.

Police said they were called after another society employee started a routine check of society payments. Records were seized after Talbot's arrest.

1,000 Adults Sign

PORT ALBERNI—Registration for adult education classes stood at an estimated 1,000 Friday and will be completed Monday evening when classes begin.

Adult education director A. N. Dick says final registration can be made Monday in Alberni District Senior Secondary, A. W. Neill Junior Secondary and Alberni Elementary schools. Several classes are filled, including dressmaking elementary A and advanced.

NANAIMO—RCMP put their tracking dog Randy to work last night after five boys escaped in a group from Brannen Lake boys' industrial school about 8 p.m. The boys were believed to be wearing institutional clothing.

GABRIOLA ISLAND—Frank Hiley has been elected president of the Gabriola Island Ratepayers and Residents Association, succeeding Dayrell Bate. Other officers are James Johnson, vice-president; Mr. Bate, secretary; Peter Bell, treasurer, and directors Mrs. C. Coats, Les Whitley, Les Page and M. Sears.

DUNCAN—A charge of causing a disturbance was dismissed against Simon W. Thomas of Duncan in magistrate's court here. Louis Burnside of Duncan was convicted of failing to remain at the scene of an accident and fined $45. Richard Joseph Farrell of Duncan was fined $50 for drinking in a public place.

PORT ALBERNI—Forest products, with a total tonnage of 82,906, were shipped by deep-sea freighter from Port Alberni in September. Loaded on 26 ships were 34,961 tons, or 23,240,666 board feet of lumber; 24,845 tons of paper, 34,999 tons of pulp, 779 tons of plywood and 12 tons of shingles.

PARKSVILLE—The annual election of officers will take place at the next meeting of the Parksville and District

Chamber of Commerce Oct. 13. Ronald Thwaites and Anton Krut have been named as a nominations committee. The new slate of officers will be installed at the annual dinner meeting in November.

LADYSMITH—Roy A. Miller was fined $150 and given a 60-day licence suspension Friday when he pleaded guilty in magistrate's court to an impaired driving charge.

NANAIMO—Vandals with spray-paint cans are at work in Nanaimo again. RCMP says someone sprayed aluminum paint over the Standard Feed Building in the south-end district, as well as a car parked on Victoria Road.

Tory Warns B.C. Ports:

Boom Years Ahead

PORT ALBERNI—Former federal cabinet minister Alvin Hamilton says the next five to 10 years will see a sharp increase in the demand for Canadian goods exported from west coast ports.

Mr. Hamilton, speaking in the Longshoremen's hall to open a five-day B.C. visit, said port facilities will be hard pressed in the next decade to adapt themselves to this increased volume.

VISITED CHINA—The agriculture minister in the Disenbaker government, who recently visited China, said wheat sales to China have made Vancouver the largest wheat port in Canada.

But sulphur, potash, coal and iron will be exported in growing volumes, he said, and by 1975 the tonnage of potash will be greater than that of wheat going out of western ports.

Mr. Hamilton said China's needs, in order of priority, are farm machinery, fertilizer, newsprint, certain minerals and sawn lumber. Of the newsprint, he said the Chinese realize they can't build an industrial empire without paper.

China now has 80,000,000 children in school and an increase in the number of literate people—and has an objective of placing a daily newspaper in every home.

OBVIOUS EFFECT

Mr. Hamilton said the effect of this on the western Canadian export market was obvious.

Most of Canada's mill markets are oriented toward the U.S., he said in urging the four western provinces to "work closely together" to solve marketing difficulties.

Mr. Hamilton met B.C. party officials Friday in Vancouver and will meet members there today before going to the annual provincial young Conservatives' meeting in Harrison Hot Springs.

'Help Indians Find Way'

Bob Doughty

A rehabilitation program for the Indians comparable in its thoroughness to the rehabilitation of servicemen after the Second World War was urged Friday by a national specialist in Indian affairs.

The executive director of the Indian-Eskimo Association of Canada, E. R. McEwen, spoke last evening in the Public Library to a meeting of Victoria Indian Arts and Welfare Society and earlier was interviewed by The Daily Colonist.

"The Indian has been isolated for 100 years; we've left him alone," he declared.

Mr. McEwen felt the isolated reserve system has made the Indian ill-equipped to integrate because the concepts of industry and development have passed them by, but he did not feel reserves should be abolished.

"We should develop the reserves where possible and set up a rehabilitation program to help them find their way into the productive community. We should help each step of the way."

Mr. McEwen felt that with opportunity and stimulation the Indian would develop his capacities.

A former teacher of Indian children in Manitoba, he said: "Indian children have the same aptitude as white children. All they need is incentive and opportunity and on most reserves there is neither."

Mr. McEwen feels the provinces should respond more to the needs of their Indian citizens, and not just leave their welfare to Ottawa.

He is looking forward to the possibilities for provincial initiative at a dominion-provincial conference on Indian affairs, the first of its kind, in Ottawa Oct. 29 and 30.

Found Guilty

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—An assize court jury found Michael Wayne McMahon, 22, guilty of causing public mischief by breaking a toilet and wash basin during a riot in Oakalla Prison last May. He will be sentenced at the end of the assize court term.

Parksville Kinsman Year's Best Again

PARKSVILLE—Bob Doughty, chosen by fellow Parksville Kinsmen Club members as Kinsman of the Year for the second time in recent years, received the Kinsman plaque from John Hickey during the recent installation dinner which marked the 20th anniversary of the club's founding.

Art Briggs was installed as president and Rita Leibel became Kinetite president in a joint ceremony presided over by district governor Leo Heroux, Merritt and deputy governor Ray Sharpe of Campbell River.

OTHERS NAMED—Other Kinsmen officers are Lorne Anderson, vice-president; Len Leibel, secretary; Jack McLean, treasurer; Ken Hoag, registrar; Hank Meury, bulletin editor, and directors Eric Hansen, Russ Hornell and Mr. Doughty.

Kinetite officers include Marjorie Anderson, vice-president; Lyle Briggs, secretary-treasurer and Rosemary Hoag, registrar.

Both clubs and guests gave a standing ovation to Albert Doehle, an honorary Kinsman and long-time Parksville resident, in appreciation for his service to the club and community.

Speakers included Len Nicolls of Qualicum Beach, president when the club was formed in 1944.

Game Clubs Offer Up to $500

VANCOUVER—The B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs said Friday rewards of up to $500 will be paid for information leading to the conviction of people "who wantonly destroy wildlife or wildlife habitat in British Columbia."

Officials said the offer followed the killing of a number of trumpeter swans last year on Vancouver Island. Cash or pledge donations were asked for the reward fund.

Vaccine Next Month

COURTENAY—Another oral polio vaccine offering will take place in the upper-island health unit during the week of Nov. 2. Health officials announced on Friday.

The unit offered the vaccine last November and again in April to everyone who had had at least three injections of Salk vaccine or one or two doses of oral vaccine. The new offering is a third dose under the same circumstances.

School children, who have parental consent, will receive the third dose at school. Eligible children under school age and eligible adults may obtain the vaccine at special clinics whose dates, times and places will be announced later.

Slap-Steal Suspect Faces Examination

A psychiatric examination was ordered in city magistrate's court Friday for a man charged with slapping a woman grocery clerk five times before stealing $7 from a till.

Erven Spill, 33, was remanded to Oct. 5. He was arrested Thursday night in the King's Hotel beer parlor, 588 Yates, less than an hour after police received the robbery report.

Mrs. Dorothy McAlpine of Jimmy Little's store, 2017 Quadra, said a man walked up to the cash register where she stood and opened the till five times. She slammed it each time in spite of a slap in the face each time. The man finally scooped up $7 and left.

John J. Caldwell, 1523 Denman, chose a 28-day jail term rather than pay a $300 fine levied for impaired driving. Magistrate William Ostler revoked his licence, saying "it would be unsafe to allow you to drive."

Wilfred Thompson, 139 North Ellensmere, and Henri Latour, 1235 Reynolds, were fined $350 each for impaired driving, to be paid in $50 instalments, and forbidden to drive except for business for four months.

Sailor Lorne E. Martin, 18, of 1032 Vancouver, was fined $20 after pleading guilty to being a minor in possession of liquor. Court was told a 12-ounce bottle of navy rum was bought at a city liquor store by another youth and turned over to Martin.

LONDON (AP)—Road deaths in British this year are climbing at the same pace as the increase in the volume of traffic, the transport ministry reported.

Island Girl 4-H Choice

A Ladysmith girl is the only Vancouver Islander among nine B.C. 4-H members whose choices for the third annual inter-provincial 4-H exchange next year were announced Friday by provincial 4-H officials. Isabel Doels will spend two weeks with a rural farm family in Prince Edward Island.

Salt Spring Island

Only One Day Off For Cat Hunter

By BEA HAMILTON

FULFORD—Professional hunter James Dewar, who gave up Wednesday in the hunt for Salt Spring Island's latest cougar, came back Thursday after the cougar struck again.

Signs of the cat were first found on Mount Tarn, behind Fulford, about 10 days ago and speculation was that it was the children of a female found dead on a Sansum Narrows beach last spring.

Mr. Dewar came over soon after with his cougar hounds but found nothing. He came back after a freshly-killed sheep was found in the field at the Andy Stevens place in the Beaver Point area.

The hunt could be a long-drawn-out affair but Bob Akerman and all the other sheep men on the island are hoping it won't break the record made by a cougar in 1961.

That time, a 130-pound cat was killed after a search that lasted two baffling months—from March to May.

That time, Mr. Dewar was one of the two predator hunters who work so hard for so long. The other was Skate Haines, who finally shot the animal on Provost Island.

Judgment Later In Indian Case

Decision was reserved in Victoria appeal court Friday on a case that may decide whether Vancouver Island Indians have the right to hunt and fish on unoccupied lands throughout the season.

One possible effect of the judgment may be that the B.C. Game Act would have to be re-drafted to eliminate specific legislation pertaining to Indians.

Under the British North America Act only the federal government has the power to legislate for Indians. In the case now before the appeal court the Crown is seeking to appeal a judgment by Judge A. J. Swainsky which quashed a conviction against Nainimo Indian Clarence White and David Bob, fined $100 each for hunting game out of season. An appeal court judge said last night he did not expect a decision would be handed down "for six weeks at a minimum."

This is a bulb

A miracle? Not at all here's how to do it...

Just dig a hole — drop in a bulb, right side up

Walk away whistling

Suddenly it's Spring

You can't mistake the fragrance of a hyacinth. It's the very breath of Springtime. White, yellow, red, pink, blue—they light up the area wherever they are. Tulips too. They range in color from pure white to almost black, from softest pink to deepest purple. They add special brilliance to any garden. And daffodils. They often beat the robin in announcing Spring. Their golden beauty—seemingly so fragile—defies winter's final blasts. Flower bulbs: so simple to grow; so easy to care for and so inexpensive. For the best, be sure they're marked "Imported from Holland."

Jet Car Hits 413 MPH

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP)—Walt Arfons' jet-powered car, the "Wingfoot Express," broke a world speed record Friday, clocking 413.30 miles per hour on these western Utah salt flats.

The previous mark of 407.85 m.p.h. was set last year on the flats by Craig Breedlove, also in a jet-powered car. Tom Green of Wharton, Ill., drove the Arfons' designed car that averaged 413.08 m.p.h. over a distance of one kilometer and 413.20 m.p.h. over the distance of one mile.

Great Britain's speed ace

Donald Campbell has a mark of 403.139 m.p.h., set on the dry salt bed of Lake Eyre in southern Australia last July.

His car's engine was directly connected to the wheels. The wheels were directly turned by the engine and some claim that is the real land speed record.

In the slim and sleek four-wheeled "Wingfoot Express" the jet engine does not have a direct connection with the wheels.

Cards, Reds Both Lose Orioles Finally 'Dead'

Seven clubs still had a chance to play in the world series yesterday morning. Last night, six of them were still hoping and only Baltimore Orioles knew for certain that they would miss out on major league baseball's finale.

New York's lowly Mets jammed things up in the National League where a four-way tie is still possible, by shutting out St. Louis Cardinals 1-0 behind southpaw Al Jackson while Philadelphia Phillies ended a 10-game losing streak by nipping Cincinnati Reds, 4-3.

Meanwhile, San Francisco Giants stayed alive as Bob Bolin pitched a three-hitter and struck out 11 in blanking Chicago Cubs, 9-0.

The Phillies and Giants remain dormie, both needing a three-game sweep by the Mets in their St. Louis series to tie. The Reds can tie by beating the Phillies in the last game for both clubs on Sunday if the Cardinals lose one, could win if the Cards lose both their games.

While the Orioles dropped out of the American League race

despite a 10-4 rout of Detroit Tigers, the White Sox became dormie despite a 3-2, 5-4 sweep of Kansas City Athletics. New York Yankees assured themselves of a berth in the playoffs by winning 10-1 over the Los Angeles Angels.

Today's Games: Cleveland (Strang, 7-13) at New York (Downing, 13-9); Kansas City (O'Donoghue 10-13) at Chicago (Horton, 12-10).

Four Sandown Winners

Phillips Finally Gets in Stride

By JIM TANG

Perhaps all that apprentice-rider Jack Phillips needed was a few live mounts.

For the first six days at Sandown Park, the 22-year-old Edmonton-born thoroughbred pilot drew little but blanks. He accepted 21 mounts without ever seeing Harry Filken behind his camera but in his defence it could be said he didn't really have much of a chance much of the time.

Things turned for the better on Wednesday, when he won on favored Blue Frame and then went out and copped the featured invitational handicap on Devonshire Cream.

MITT JACKPOT

Yesterday he hit the jackpot with four winners, a second and a third as he rode the card with a chance in each race.

He copped the first heat with a charging finish on Dark Doll, kept Fuddy's Orphan in front all the way in the second, was a front-running winner on Merrill's Mogul in the fourth and then got a camera verdict on Touchwood Miss in the fifth with another driving finish.

PLACE RACE

In between, he showed with Aaron's Rod in the third, failed with Charlie Mac in the sixth and Some Royal Flush in the seventh. Then he wound up with a place on Spree's Fancy in the eighth.

It gave Phillips, who had ridden 30 winners previously this year in Toronto and on the Prairie circuit, a part of the three extra pools.

Dark Doll combined with Lucky Legger for a $45.90 quinella, Merrill's Mogul with Temple Guard for an Exacto worth $115.90 and Spree's Fancy and Hi-Ma-Dan were worth $14 in the last-race quinella.

UPSET RACE

There were larger straight returns but the upset of the day came in the featured seventh race when M'Lord, a five-year-old gelding who had won six claiming races on the Prairies this year, made good in his second try against some of the better thoroughbreds here.

Beaten 13 lengths last Saturday when Glengordon ran his smasher, M'Lord had a bit easier field yesterday but one still considered too tough for a claimer. But with Morris M'Lord on him in his last Prairie win, in the Irons, M'Lord lunged through in the stretch to beat out War Summit and Gun-An-Noot. Win price was $15.20.

BREAKAGE: Gun-An-Noot became the first claimer of the meeting, going to veteran owner Mitty Field for $1,600.

Mutuel play was up from last year for the first time, showing a jump of $7,000 and leaving the net loss for eight days an easy-to-reach $28,000.

For the second time in the meeting, Dark Hawk progeny ran one-two-three in one race when Dark Doll, Lucky Legger and Dark Runner finished in that order in the first... apprentice Fred Finley, leading rider of the meeting, had to take off his mounts after the first race because of illness... George Harkness' Colwood Stables will be after a triple in today's fine card with Harlan, Amazing Message and Devonshire Cream all entered.

Bobby Cormack, certainly one of the better riders here, has won only four times in 50 rides. But he has been second 14 times... Al Ventrella got his first win of the meeting when Copper Prince made it for the second time in the sixth... a couple of horses who once ran in better company, Fuddy's Orphan and Merrill's Mogul, yesterday found the track suitable for their needs... the three-year-old Tennessee moved up yesterday after his big win and almost stole a race from his elders, losing a camera decision to Copper Prince... probably the biggest overlay of the day was Touchwood Miss, who paid $14.70 for her win.

Toronto Desperate, Healthy

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The West comes East this weekend to highlight Canadian Football League play and a victory for any of four teams could shake up the standings in both divisions.

Half the spotlight in the East will be shared by British Columbia Lions and Toronto Argonauts at Toronto tonight.

The Lions will be looking to strengthen their lead in the West as well as stretching their unbeaten streak to 10 games.

The Argos, who appear to be in better shape than they have been all season, can use a victory over the Lions to break a deadlock with the Montreal Alouettes for third place in the Eastern Conference.

Sunday at Hamilton, Saskatchewan Roughriders and the Tiger-Cats will move onto the stage and a victory for either club could prove to be vital.

Win for Coach Ralph Sazio's Cats will give them a share of first place along with the Ottawa Rough Riders.

CHANCE TO LEAD

Depending on how the Lions fare against Argos, the Roughriders will have an opportunity to either take over the lead in the West should Vancouver lose, or remain one point back.

Not to be forgotten, however, is a Western Conference game between the cellar-dwelling Blue Bombers play host to Calgary Stampeders. The Stamps, tied with Saskatchewan for second place, can also bring about an interesting situation with a win.

The Lions, rated as seventh-favorite to beat Argos, are considered to have a good chance of winding up the season without a loss, a feat which has never before been done in the CFL. Five of their remaining nine games are against second-division clubs.

Much of their success can be attributed to the defensive corps which has given up only 82 points in nine games, an average of just little more than nine. Also, no team has scored more than two touchdowns against them in any match.

Island Hockey

Four Teams In League

A five-year-old dream by senior hockey organizations on Vancouver Island came true this week with the formation of the Vancouver Island Hockey League, including two teams from Victoria, one from Nanaimo and one team from Port Alberni.

The last island league folded in 1959 but with a new rink in Port Alberni and clubs in Nanaimo and Victoria the idea was rekindled.

"We feel that this year will be just a start," league representative Keith Dorman said, "next year we think that we will draw entries from Duncan and Comox making it a six-team league."

NEW ARENA

Comox wants to play this year but in a question mark. The Air Force is building an arena in Comox but it is not scheduled for completion until December.

Comox, however, has had a team for the past year and would like to be included in the regular schedule but VIHL officials want to wait until the arena completion before they include them in regular play.

NOT SETTLED

Each team will play 18 league games. The playoff setup hasn't been settled.

Victoria's home games will be Monday nights at the Memorial Arena starting at 8 p.m.

Port Alberni will get Saturday nights as their home games last year drew crowds of 700. Their new arena has been outfitted with more seats in the end zones and this year the crowds are expected to be much higher.

Nanaimo's schedule has not been decided on as yet but it is expected they will also play most of their games on Saturday nights.

OFF AND ON

Port Alberni has been playing strictly exhibition games both on and off the island.

"This may be surprising," Dorman said, "but Port Alberni is going to have one of the best teams in the league and could

Chair Suffers As Reds Lose

CINCINNATI (AP) — Dick Sisler, acting manager of Cincinnati Reds, took a swift kick at a chair in his office Friday night after his team had dropped a 4-3 decision to Philadelphia Phillies and lost a chance to take over first place in the National League.

Even before the Reds went to bat in the final inning, they knew the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals had lost to New York Mets 1-0.

After Sisler kicked the chair he settled down a bit and said, "It was a game we thought we had in the bag but we didn't."

He said he felt that Cincinnati pitcher Jim O'Toole made a bad pitch to Tony Taylor when Taylor singled in the Phils' first run in a four-run uprising in the eighth inning.

"But you can't get on him," he said, "because he had pitched a beautiful game. But he should have known better than to do that."

Over in the Philadelphia clubhouse, where the Phils were celebrating the end of a 10-game losing streak, manager Gene Mauch said: "As long as the pencil doesn't get us, we have a chance," referring to the mathematical position of the Phils.

Leafs in Nanaimo Game with Canucks

NANAIMO — Victoria Maple Leafs get their first taste of Western Hockey League opposition here tonight when they play Vancouver Canucks in an exhibition game at 8 p.m.

Maple Leafs, last year's Denver Invaders, lost two games in the past week to Boston Bruins and Toronto Maple Leafs of the NHL. Canucks also bowed to those clubs.

The Victoria team opens its schedule next Friday night in Los Angeles and plays the Blades again the next night. It opens at home Oct. 13 against Seattle Totems.

Yesterday's scores: Mount View 4 vs. Claremont 4 at Royal Athletic Park; Esquimalt 3 at Vic High 2; Mount Douglas 1 at Oak Bay 1.

Next games: Wednesday—Vic High at Esquimalt; Oak Bay at Mount Douglas at 4 p.m.

Mount Douglas grabbed its first point in the inter high school soccer league yesterday as it held high-flying Oak Bay to a 1-1 draw.

The Bays, who roared to easy wins in their first two starts, were lucky to get the tie after

Oak Bay got its equalizer when a shot by centre-forward Greg Pearson was deflected into the Mount Doug goal by defender Doug Hill.

Although the Bays had an edge in play, they never managed to solve lanky Mount Doug centre-half Russ Lamb.

In other games yesterday, Mount View beat Claremont, 6-4, and Esquimalt nipped the sliding Vic High Ties, 3-2.

QUICK START

Mount View exploded for two goals in the first four minutes in its game with Claremont, watched by about 200 fans at Royal Athletic Park.

John Costas broke through the middle to score directly from the kickoff and Curt Clarke got the first of his two goals at the four-minute mark.

Claremont fought back to tie on goals by Jay Christison and Joe Milligan, but Phil Steen sent the Views into the lead to stay before the half ended.

TWO REPLIES

Steen, Clarke and Don Billeborough scored for Mount View in the second half while Milligan and Gerry Funt replied for Claremont.

Esquimalt got two goals from centre-forward Ken Squires in its win over Vic High. Ken Hardy netted the other Esquimalt tally and Palle Poulsen and Doug Bainbridge scored for the Ties.

Head Up! Don Luzzi On Sunday

WINNIPEG (CP) — Calgary tackle Don Luzzi may find it downright unfriendly in Winnipeg Stadium for Sunday's Western Football Conference meeting with the Blue Bombers.

Winnipeg coach Bud Grant says his players are still riled at the former all-star lineman for injuring Bomber quarterback Kenny Ploen in a Sept. 7 game at Calgary.

Ploen was sidelined with a torn rib cartilage. The Bombers claimed game films showed that Luzzi drove in after the whistle on Ploen in a deliberate attempt to injure.

Grant said the other day he will warn officials before Sunday's game that his players will be difficult to restrain if Luzzi tries something similar again.

"Our players have had just about enough of that guy," Grant said.

PLAYERS

Victoria entries in the league will be the Victoria Cavaliers and the Saanich Canadians. Both teams are holdovers from the Victoria Senior Amateur Hockey League of last year.

Players from the four senior amateur teams in the Victoria league last year will fill the ranks of the two local entries and some of the more talented junior players have also been signed.

MAY PLAY

Ron Jay will be coaching the Cavaliers and the Saanich club will be coached by John Merrill. It is expected Jay will double as a player if he can get in shape in time for the league opening.

Nanaimo's intermediate team, limited to exhibition games on the mainland last year, will be the Hub City's entry in the V.I.H.L. Most of the players are graduates of the Nanaimo Suburban League. Earl Robinson will again be coach.

OFF AND ON

Port Alberni has been playing strictly exhibition games both on and off the island.

"This may be surprising," Dorman said, "but Port Alberni is going to have one of the best teams in the league and could

Was Train Mystery Killer?

LADYSMITH—An elderly Ladysmith resident found dead Friday morning may have been hit by a train.

The body of Emil Constantine Mackie, about 70, was found near the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway crossing in town shortly before 8 a.m.

Police said: "The indications are he may have been struck by a train, but we are waiting for confirmation of this fact."

FOUND BODY

They set the time of death at approximately 2:55 a.m., when a train passed over the crossing.

The body was found by John Heard of Ladysmith.

An autopsy is being performed and an inquest or an inquiry will be held. Mr. Mackie, who lived alone in a house on the beach here, is believed to be survived by relatives in the Nanaimo area.

Inspection Held At Work Point

Brig. E. D. Danby, B.C. area commander, Wednesday inspected the buildings and grounds of the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada and the Esquimalt administration wing at Work Point.

Fair Plan Laid Low By High Cost of Land

DUNCAN—A three-way closed meeting on a proposal to buy 16 acres adjacent to the Cowichan exhibition grounds and thereby expand the ever-growing fair ended without decision late Thursday.

Officials indicated Friday the meeting of the exhibition board, Duncan and North Cowichan reached no decision because the asking price of the owners of the three parcels of land involved was too high for city, municipality or board.

Expert's Evidence Rejected Inquest Jury Clears Driver of Impairment

By RUTH McKELLAR

COURTENAY—An inquest jury here has cleared a driver involved in a fatal accident Sept. 23 after the coroner said he believed the driver was not impaired and an expert said he was.

Two other drivers told the inquest David Magee, 15, a former Courtenay resident, apparently was "challenging" cars as he walked on Anderson Road in Courtenay.

The jury deliberated for half an hour before deciding the death was accidental with no blame attached to anyone.

Young Magee was facing traffic while he walked with a 15-year-old girl companion during a visit to the friends in the area one week after his family moved to Vancouver.

Driver Rodney John Gallagher, a corporal at RCAF Station Comox, told the inquest a car was coming toward him and his lights were on low beam.

At the last minute, he said, he saw the two figures and tried to swerve to avoid them. He said he didn't think he had applied his brakes before his car hit the boy.

Cpl. Gallagher said he quit work at 4 p.m. and went to the corporals' club where he drank about five bottles of beer before leaving at 7 p.m.

Picked Up His Wife

He said he had driven 12 miles to his home, picked up his wife and was returning to the air base. He had eaten nothing since lunch time.

Mel Wing Yip, a toxicologist and analyst for the attorney general's department, said a sample of Cpl. Gallagher's blood showed an alcohol content of .11 per cent.

He stated twice for the court that "in my opinion anyone with this count is impaired and his ability to drive restricted."

Const. Ray Smith of the RCMP said Cpl. Gallagher appeared to him to be normal. He asked him to walk a four-foot-high curb heel to toe for 15 feet, which Cpl. Gallagher performed without trouble.

RCAF Police Sgt. John Walter Sweeney said he drove along Anderson shortly before the accident and "I thought he (Magee) was challenging me."

Had to Swerve Sharply

He said that when he passed Magee and another person walking with him Magee was well into the travelled portion of the road and made no attempt to get off despite a heavy flow of traffic.

Sgt. Sweeney said he had to swerve sharply to avoid hitting the youth and his left wheel was well over the white line.

Another witness told almost the same story while Harvey Brown said that, when he passed the couple, they were facing traffic and off the road on the gravel shoulder.

In charging the jury, coroner Tom Mendis asked: "Would you or I challenge three ears by not getting off the tarvia (blacktop) at night?"

"For what my judgment is worth, Mr. Gallagher was not impaired."

Skutz Falls Bridge

Reward for Vandal Doubled at Duncan

DUNCAN—The reward for information leading to the apprehension of the Skutz Falls bridge vandals has been doubled to $30.

Peter Small of Duncan added $10 Friday to a similar amount put up earlier by Mrs. E. J. Trueman of Duncan.

The power-saw-toting vandals dumped most of the bridge's 75-foot log stringers into the Cowichan River about two weeks ago, thereby killing the Cowichan Fish and Game Association's hopes for a river footpath.

ONLY CROSSING

The bridge, partly destroyed by an arsonist two years ago, was the only foot crossing of the river so the path could have linked Duncan and Lake Cowichan.

The association had planned to install a two-foot handrailing deck this fall or early next spring with lumber promised by Western Forest Industries, but now will have to seek government help if the bridge is to be rebuilt.

Trip: Seven Doors —One Small Grave

COURTENAY—Seven doors, one small grave and one big fair are what Mark Walmaley remembers best about his recent tour of Canada and the U.S.

The Courtenay youth won the trip in a speaking contest sponsored by the Odd Fellows organization and told about it as a guest speaker Thursday at a Kiwanis meeting here.

ACROSS CANADA

He and 30 other young B.C. residents went on "the pilgrimage of youth" along with others from Canada and the U.S., meeting Spokane July 19, and then returning to B.C. and travelling across Canada to Quebec and then to the U.N.

There, said young Walmaley, he was impressed by the seven massive nickel doors which were a gift from Canada.

He said the group spent many hours viewing the exhibits at the

Nanaimo Edict

Firearms Banned Two Years

NANAIMO — A 22-year-old Alberni area man was given a two-year suspended sentence in assize court Friday after a jury convicted him of criminal negligence in a hunting accident.

Robert Kepchinsky was charged after the death of William Olesar, 22, at a Sprout Lake campsite where the two and two companions were camping last June 28.

Conditions of his suspended sentence were that the death pistol will be confiscated to the Crown, all of Kepchinsky's other weapons must be delivered to the sheriff and he must not possess any firearms during the two years.

Kepchinsky testified he "heard something," looked outside, put his glasses on, got his gun, watched a "shape" outside for a while and then fired four times.

THOUGHT IT WAS BEAR

He said he thought he was firing at a bear.

Prosecutor Don Cunliffe suggested Kepchinsky might have been shooting at companion Randle Devoy, with whom he had a fight earlier. Kepchinsky denied it, saying he thought Devoy had driven back to town, although he admitted he had Devoy's car keys.

The jury was out less than two hours.

Bulldozer Victim Identified

NANAIMO—A bulldozer operator who died Thursday in an accident outside Nanaimo hospital was identified Friday as Peter Zacco, 38.

No one saw the accident but reports indicated Mr. Zacco was clearing land for increased parking at the hospital when the bulldozer ran over him.

Mr. Zacco, a student at the provincial vocational training school, was reported to be survived by a wife in Sault-Ste. Marie and a brother in Montreal.

Port and Alberni

Only 43 Out at Meeting To Debate Amalgamation

By MARGARET TEBBETT

ALBERNI—Only 43 people turned out Thursday night for the public meeting called by Alberni council to debate the Twin Cities' amalgamation proposal which goes before the voters Oct. 17.

And only three of the 43 asked questions after Mayor Fred Bishop explained why Alberni council is supporting the move for union with Port Alberni.

PRESTIGE

He said the combined city would be the fifth largest in B.C., which "may not mean much to the individual but would mean prestige when dealing with other levels of government."

Populations in 1961 were 4,616 in Alberni and 11,860 in Port, a total of more than 17,000 by the proposed merger date of Oct. 31, 1967.

UP TO PEOPLE

Mayor Bishop said there was no guarantee the Alberni area would have representatives on council, but the people could ensure this by finding and supporting good candidates.

He predicted that, within a few years, the problem of representation would be solved without starting a ward system.

'Let Alberni Grow'

There was give and take on both sides," the mayor said of Twin Cities' negotiations of terms, "and I think we have created nearly equal terms."

He said Port's revenue would increase tremendously when its fixed assessment agreement with MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River expires at the end of 1967 and, if the cities were not united, conditions in Alberni would then deteriorate.

"There was give and take on both sides," the mayor said of Twin Cities' negotiations of terms, "and I think we have created nearly equal terms."

He said Port's revenue would increase tremendously when its fixed assessment agreement with MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River expires at the end of 1967 and, if the cities were not united, conditions in Alberni would then deteriorate.

Mayor Bishop said it was important for the prosperity of businessmen and therefore the community that Alberni remain buoyant.

"To the people on fixed incomes," he said, "I cannot see where amalgamation would mean anything but good, as it would have an effect on the residential mill rate."

OFFSETTING BENEFITS

Port Alberni taxpayers would not be adversely affected, he claimed. There would be offsetting benefits in every case where amalgamation would mean loss of revenue.

Government grants would go down $35,000 and police costs rise slightly but much would be saved in costs of administration. Both cities need new works yards and one would be cheaper than two.

PLANNING BOARD

"If anything is really essential in this community," said the mayor, "it is a regional planning board."

And planning could best be put into effect if the cities were combined.

Mayor Les Hammer of Port Alberni, in the audience at St. Andrew's United Church hall, was asked for comment. His reply:

"This is Alberni's meeting and I have little to say, but I believe our negotiations resulted in a plan in which neither city is going to suffer."

REACTIONS

The reactions of Alberni aldermen:

● Ald. Charles Blair said he felt the council put principles before personalities for the good of the community in their negotiations.

● Ald. Thomas Hamilton said council members were not concerned with what would happen to them as aldermen but were concerned for the welfare of the citizens.

● Ald. John Williamson, newest council member, said he wanted "to be counted as supporting amalgamation" and pointed out the old feeling of antagonism between the two cities has been dissipated.

NO RESERVATIONS

Mayor Bishop closed the meeting by saying:

"I support the plan without reservations . . . Sentiment and nostalgia may be the only grounds on which Alberni people would object."

"We should join together to build a bigger and better community, not just richer and with lower taxes."

During Accident Search

Diver Injured In Road Crash

CAMPBELL RIVER — One Greengrass, LS Donald Mori of four Victoria navy divers here to search for the bodies of two traffic accident victims was injured early Friday in a traffic accident.

AB David Arthur, 23, of 2325 Belmont, who was driving, was slightly injured when a front tire blowout caused a panel truck to leave a road and crash into a power pole.

The truck was described as a total loss, but the other divers escaped injury. They are CPO Murray Wilson, in charge of the group; PO Charles

Later in the day, the divers found the body of William Knowles, 18, of Campbell River, in Upper Campbell Lake.

The body of Marshall Abbott, 19, also of Campbell River, was found Thursday.

The two drowned early Wednesday when their car plunged from a trestle as they returned to their jobs at an Elk River Timber Co. camp on the Gold River Road from a visit to an injured fellow worker in hospital here.

Nanaimo Council Next

Minor Hockey Wins Point In Fight Over Arena Fees

NANAIMO — The Nanaimo Minor Hockey Association has won its point in the battle over fees proposed by the civic properties and recreation commission.

The commission announced Friday, following a meeting with the association Thursday night, that it is prepared to give recreation free to all minor groups using the civic arena—subject to the approval of city council.

The final decision is that there should be no fees or rental charges for anyone up to 18 years in minor hockey, figure skating, public skating, girls' hockey and other youth activities.

Association president Eric Kneen told the meeting his group feels a recreation district should be formed along the borders of the Nanaimo school district and everyone should contribute to financing.

"CHANGE ACT" But, he said, a Greater Nanaimo recreation district cannot be formed under the Municipal Act "for some reason."

"If this is the case," he said, "then the Act should be changed."

Queen Security Captive?

By RICHARD JACKSON
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Are Quebec terrorists making a Sunday morning prisoner of the Queen aboard the royal yacht Britannia?

Those in charge of the royal visit say no, and definitely. They insisted Friday that the Queen and Prince Philip will attend Anglican services at Quebec City on Sunday, Oct. 11, not in church, but aboard the Britannia, "has nothing, absolutely nothing to do with security."

That the Queen, being afforded the most immense security safeguards ever provided in Canada—both in sheer manpower and multiplicity of measures—will be attending divine services in the middle of the St. Lawrence River, well out from the Quebec City shoreline, is nothing more, they say, than "sheer coincidence."

But... This form of water-borne service breaks dramatically with royal visit tradition on the Sabbath.
... And the "coincidence" is made even more remarkable when it is recalled that the Anglican church in Quebec City she traditionally would have attended under other circumstances, the Cathedral of the Holy Trinity, is the first Church of England ever built outside the British Isles.

(The cathedral was dedicated in 1804, but the parish was established as far back as 1768.)

To conduct the service aboard the Britannia on Oct. 11, Rt. Rev. Russell F. Brown of Quebec City will go out in a boat tender from the dock to the yacht.

The royal visit committee, it was learned, for a time had considered arranging with Anglican Church authorities

U.S. DROPS SPY CHARGE

'Security Risk' Frees Couple

NEW YORK (AP)—The prosecution on direct, urgent orders from Washington suddenly and surprisingly dropped Friday its federal spy case against a Russian mystery couple—indicating it did not want to bare its counter-spy secrets of the cold war in open court.

The defendants had time only to exchange a congratulatory kiss before they were picked up by immigration authorities, to await deportation proceedings. The woman's eyes were filled with tears.

The development stunned a Brooklyn courtroom, where a jury of 11 men and one woman had just been completed in the fifth day of the espionage trial of Alexander Sokolov, 41, a Russian of vague background, and his 34-year-old wife, whose real name is not even known to U.S. authorities. The indictment called her Jane Doe.

The only explanation on record for abandoning the case was "the interests of national security."

JUDGE APPROVES

Airliner Plunges — 80 Lost

CARTAGENA, Spain (UPI)—A French airliner with 80 persons aboard crashed into the Mediterranean 45 miles off this port Friday. After an all-night search no survivors had been sighted and rescuers feared the plane had sunk.

Twenty ships converged on the crash scene after the wreckage was sighted late Friday by a French plane. Planes aided by flares circled the scene.

IN CONFIRMATION
About 12 hours after the crash, a Spanish air force rescue plane had radioed that it saw "some survivors."

Spanish rescue headquarters said, however, there was "so far no official confirmation of any survivors."

Seven crewmen and 73 passengers—all of them French except for two Mauritanians—were reported aboard the plane, operated by the French firm Union Transports Aeronautiques.

Suspended by Cabinet

Purchaser Charged

By IAN STREET
Colonist Legislative Reporter

The provincial cabinet met in emergency session late Friday to order the suspension of a senior B.C. official who was responsible for many millions of dollars in government purchases each year.

The action came about four hours after George Jones, chairman of the government's purchasing commission, appeared in magistrate's court on a charge under one of the bribery sections of the Criminal Code of Canada.

No plea was taken Friday and Mr. Jones and former automobile dealer George Hamilton were remanded on $2,000 bail each until next Tuesday.

FROM TORONTO

Mr. Jones was appointed to the $10,000 a year job of chairman of the three-man purchasing commission in 1964. At that time Premier Bennett said he had come from Toronto where he held a purchasing job for a federal government branch.

The chairman of the purchasing commission is one of only two provincial officials who are not responsible to the cabinet but to the legislative assembly.

As such he is permitted to hold office during good behavior and can only be removed by address from the legislative assembly.

JUST RETURNED

Premier Bennett returned from Europe only a few hours before the official was charged by RCMP in the purchasing commission's office on Superior Street Friday morning.

Refugees Choke Roads

Hilda Heads for Coast, 125,000 Flee for Lives

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Hurricane Hilda drove its terrifying 130 mile-an-hour winds late Friday toward a Louisiana Gulf Coast from which more than 125,000 persons had fled.

The massive storm churned northward through a raging

Gulf of Mexico at a sluggish six m.p.h. It appeared to be shifting east just enough to cause concern to sprawling, below-sea-level New Orleans.

MASS EVACUATION

Frank G. Spleas, acting state civil defence director, estimated 125,000 persons had left the low-lying coastal areas with the count not yet complete. It was probably the largest mass evacuation in the history of Louisiana.

As Hilda ploughed north, uncertain of its exact land target, more than 1,000,000 South Louisianians kept a constant watch on its progress.

LARGER THAN MARITIMES

The giant storm with its buffeting gales and winds covers 70,000 square miles—nearly 20,000 square miles larger than the combined area of Canada's Maritime provinces.

The job of feeding and caring for the mounting swell of refugees quickly became a formidable one. The U.S. Red Cross sent in 10,000 cots and 20,000 blankets to the Lake Charles and Lafayette areas.

Straitjackets, Irons For 'Black Hood' Men

MINEOLA, N.Y. (UPI)—Two members of Montreal's notorious "Black Hood" gang were sent back to Montreal Friday in straitjackets, leg chains and handcuffs.

Nassau County district attorney William Cahn said they were making the trip in an immigration department van because all airports were fogged in the New York City area.

Cahn said it had been planned to return the two desperadoes by chartering plane because the airlines refused to take them for fear of endangering other passengers.

The men are Antonio Facchino, 37, and Jean Claude Messier, 26, both of Montreal.

Hurled Egg Hits Home On Back

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE, England (Reuters)—Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home was hit by an egg Friday.

Douglas-Home was hit in the back as he was climbing into his car. The egg splattered over his blue suit.

Police chased a bespectacled youth.

The prime minister did not at first realize he had been hit by an egg.

"He thought someone had given him a rather heavy pat on the back," said Lord Oakeshot.

Suicide Leaps, Kills Tourist

PARIS (UPI)—A woman who committed suicide by leaping from the 230-foot tower of Notre Dame Cathedral struck and killed an American woman tourist Friday a few feet from a French lottery poster proclaiming: "Today is Your Lucky Day."

The tourist was Miss Veronica McConnell, 24, a pretty dark-haired X-ray technician of Philadelphia. She had arrived Thursday night with 38 young American tourists on a bus tour of Europe.

The suicide carried no identification, but police said her father identified her as Miss Denise Rey-Herme, 37, of Saint Prix, near Paris.

She was only the 12th known suicide from the tower in Notre Dame's 800-year-old history. The Eiffel Tower has claimed 334 victims.

Bennett Says Northland Full Partner in Union

Kiernan Will Act As Ambassador

Recreation Minister Kiernan will act as B.C.'s ambassador in preliminary discussions on the question of union with the Yukon.

Premier Bennett said yesterday he hoped the minister, who has previously held portfolios of mines and agriculture, would agree to explain the benefits to both B.C. and the northern territories.

The invitation to send a B.C. representative to discuss the proposal made by Premier Bennett on his visit to Whitehorse last month came from the Chamber of Commerce in the Yukon's administrative centre.

By IAN STREET
Colonist Legislative Reporter

Yukon and Northwest Territories west of the 120 meridian would be "full-fledged partners" if they decided to join B.C., Premier Bennett said Friday.

He told a press conference on his return from Europe that his "suggestion" that the northern territories join B.C. was part of the government's long-range development plan for the north.

And the premier predicted that if the promised $302,000,000 program for paving the Alaska Highway and other key northern routes was carried out B.C. tourist business would show dramatic growth.

Mr. Bennett said in a few years the increase in travel by Americans to Alaska, both going and returning by way of B.C. would boost the annual

Subpoena Given Banks in U.S.

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says a United States federal marshal served a subpoena late Friday on Harold C. Banks for deposition in a $5,000,000 damage suit against three U.S. unions by Upper Lakes Shipping Limited of Toronto.

The newspaper said the marshal boarded a cruiser owned by the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.) in Mill Basin, Brooklyn, and obtained Banks' signature on a receipt for the subpoena.

In Ottawa, an opposition demand in the House of Commons for a special inquiry into the circumstances surrounding Banks' bail-jumping flight to the United States was flatly rejected Friday by Prime Minister Pearson.

"No such inquiry is necessary," he told the Commons. "I think the facts are quite clear and I do not think any useful purpose would be served at this time by establishing that kind of inquiry."

Separatists May Hinder Cavalcade

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec separatists plan to use passive tactics in demonstrations during the Queen's visit next Friday.

Pierre Bourgault of Montreal, president of Le Rassemblement pour l'Indépendance Nationale, said the movement has picked up tips on such tactics from persons linked to the Congress of Racial Equality in the U.S.

He condemned, in an interview Friday an article in the underground separatist organ La Cagoule (The Hatchet) outlining methods of starting a riot.

Would RIN members go to the point of throwing themselves down before the royal cavalcade?

"That could be the type of demonstration," he replied.

Slide Takes Fourth Life

VANCOUVER (CP)—The massive mudslide which wiped out the Catermole Co.'s timber camp-village 30 miles north of Campbell River Sept. 17 claimed a fourth life Friday.

William Cousins, 54, who was buried for some time in mud and debris, died in hospital here. The bodies of three other victims have never been found.

Names Kept Secret

Indictments Out In Civil Rights Case

BILOXI, Miss. (UPI)—A federal grand jury investigating the slaying of three civil rights workers this summer returned two indictments Friday, but refused any information until arrests are made.

The grand jury foreman, Jackson insurance executive Dallas Cowan, told U.S. District Judge Sidney Mize that "we have completed our assignment and have bills to return."

Mize told the jurors, including

22 whites and one Negro, "not to give out any information about this case until the defendants are placed under arrest. I think it would be wise to keep it secret now."

The men disappeared June 21, shortly after being released from the Neshoba county jail at Philadelphia. On Aug. 4, obviously acting on a tip, FBI agents using a bulldozer uncovered their bodies deep in an earthen dam near Philadelphia. All three had been shot.
